50 C. C. C. YOUTHS AND RANGERS BATTLE HOCKING FOREST FIRE

Area, South Of Laurelville, Swept By Flames; Smoke Forces Some Residents To Leave; "Mopping Up" Starts

Fifty C. C. C. workers from Camp Hocking battled a forest fire in the Pleasant Hill district, south of Laurelville, for seven hours Wednesday before they brought it under control at 6:30 p. m.

No homes or buildings in the district were destroyed, rangers said. The fire was in the territory between Routes 56 and 327 about five miles south of Laurelville. It was in Hocking county near the edge of Ross county. Cause of the fire has not been determined.

Rangers and a small crew of C. C. C. workers worked all night and were still on the job Thursday "mopping up" after the blaze, one of the worst in the district in some time. No injuries to the crew battling the flames were reported.

Territory covered by the fire was estimated at 250 acres.

Although no homes in the district were damaged, some residents were forced out by the dense smoke.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 27—(UP)—With 56 forest fires burning in West Virginia today, State Forester Dan B. Griffin expected high winds to create "the most hazardous fire condition in two and a half years."

Low humidity, tinder-dry forests and continued stiff winds caused Griffin to announce that it might be necessary to declare a state of emergency. Already 1500 men are fighting the fires.

Five gas wells were endangered by a 200-acre fire near Sissonville, Kanawha county, and 75 acres of timber land were burned in Wood county. Men were kept on duty at the Big Run oil field to prevent a fire starting from sparks.

Griffin said his organization was equipped to handle only 60 fires.

The contests, each lasting 80 minutes, will be held in the 255-acre hybrid corn fields on the Orleton farm, seven miles north of London.

The 1938 champions will be awarded trophies and the standing-corn winner may enter the national contest Nov. 3 near Sioux Falls, S. D.

SUSPECT JAILED IN BURGLARY OF STEVENSON CAR

Articles stolen Sunday night from the auto of Dr. Jean Stevenson, of Cincinnati, when he was visiting in Jackson township were recovered Thursday by the sheriff's department following the arrest of William Grubbs, 23, of Jackson township.

The doctor's car was ransacked when parked in the driveway at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Stevenson. Articles stolen included a camera, blanket, topcoat, suit coat, sweater and a cake plate. All have been recovered except the cake plate, Sheriff Charles Radcliff said.

Sheriff Radcliff said Grubbs showed him where the articles had been hidden in a woods along Route 104 just south of Route 22.

The department indicated a second arrest may be made in the case.

ONE KILLER EXECUTED; ANOTHER IN DEATH ROW

COLUMBUS, Oct. 27—(UP)—For the first time in Ohio penal history, a condemned man was admitted to the state penitentiary on the eve of the electrocution of another prisoner.

A few hours before Sam Thomas, 23-year-old Alabama Negro, was led to the electric chair to die for the holdup murder of a Hamilton county truck farmer, Lafe Williams, 48, Butler county farmer sentenced to die Feb. 10, was admitted to "death row," last night.

Thomas entered the death chamber with a faint smile on his face. After he was strapped in the chair, he quoted the Lord's Prayer hurriedly, then nodded he was ready to die.

He was pronounced dead by Dr. George W. Keil, prison physician, at 8:08 p. m.

Williams was convicted of the murder of Henry Graham, farmer of near Hamilton, O., which occurred July 30. Thomas killed Francis Rutz in a holdup.

AUDITOR URGES EFFORT TO END PENSION CRISIS

Ohio Staff Continues To Write Checks, Although Cash Is Insufficient

ROOSEVELT STILL SILENT

Failure Of Governor To Follow Orders Cited By Board Member

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27—(UP)—Ohio's old age pension tangle was carried to the White House today after the Social Security board had refused again to yield in its denial of federal contributions.

State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson arranged a conference with Marvin McIntyre, secretary to President Roosevelt, in a final effort to obtain a release of the government's share, which the board has ordered withheld because of alleged mismanagement of the state pension system.

Ferguson directed his staff in Columbus to continue writing October checks for the full amount of the federal and state shares.

"I am only doing it on hope," he explained, "and the prospects don't look very good."

Davey, Board Silent

Ferguson decided to appeal to the White House after an hour's conference with George E. Bigge, board member, who said the board could not withdraw its order because Gov. Martin L. Davey and the state pension division have still not compiled with the board's demands for the elimination of alleged administrative abuses.

President Roosevelt thus far has taken no part in the controversy although Ferguson has made an earlier attempt to get a White House audience and Sen. Vic Donahey, D., O., had written asking that the President give the matter his personal attention.

Ferguson said he was informed by Bigge that Gov. Davey's suggestion that an "impartial" investigator recheck the operation

SOVIET JUGGLES COMMAND OF ITS FAR EAST FORCE

MOSCOW, Oct. 27—(UP)—Russia's formidable Far Eastern army has been divided into two separate commands, it was disclosed today, and Far Eastern Siberia has been divided into two administrative districts.

Field Marshal Vassily Bluecher, the foremost military figure in all Russia, is not included in the new set up. Though the mystery attaching to his status was deepened, it was made certain, apparently, that he is no longer the commander in chief in the Far East.

Confirmation of the long reported change in the Far East came indirectly, as is often the case in Russia, in an article in the newspaper, Komsomolkaya Pravda, the organ of the Young Communist league, which often reflects even before Pravda, the official organ of the Communist party, the trend of affairs in the Soviet Union.

FANNIE GOES TO COURT

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 27—(UP)—Stage and Screen Comedienne Fannie Brice was to appear in superior court today for a hearing on her petition for a divorce from Billy Rose, New York theatrical producer. In the complaint filed under her real name of Fannie Rosenberg, the actress asked for divorce on grounds of mental cruelty and desertion. She made no reference to the reported romance between Rose and Eleanor Holm Jarrett, Olympic swimming star.

WITH the capture of Hankow, Chinese provisional capital, Japan achieves her major military objective in the Sino-Japanese conflict. For nearly eleven months Japan has sought to enter Hankow. When she did the city had been abandoned by its defenders. Americans sought refuge in the American consulate although a refugee zone was set up, providing safety for foreigners.

EUROPE DIVIDED ON F. D.'S HINT OF ARMS TALK

BY UNITED PRESS

Europe read President Roosevelt's attack on "peace by force" today with sharp conflicting emotions.

The Nazi-Fascist press cut the President's remarks, made in a New York forum meeting, down to an uninformative summary or omitted them. In Great Britain and France and League of Nations circles at Geneva the speech was received with enthusiasm.

"An election speech at the cost of other countries," said the official DNB news agency in Berlin, where newspapers were reported to have been instructed not to publish the speech immediately.

In Rome, newspapers carried only brief accounts of the address and responsible Fascist circles objected to what they considered an attempt to put blame for the present armament race on the totalitarian states.

The President's desire for disarmament was viewed sympathetically in Fascist sources where it was said Italy, and probably Germany, would be ready to join in an arms limitation conference as

MUNDELEIN, F. D. TALK

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27—(UP)—George Cardinal Mundelein, catholic prelate of Chicago, called on President Roosevelt at the White House today. It was explained he was returning several visits which President Roosevelt had paid him on presidential trips to Chicago.

FARM LABORER WOUNDS OHIOAN, SHOOTS HIMSELF

NEWARK, Oct. 27—(UP)—William Walker, 37, after shooting his farm employer, used the same shotgun to take his own life, Licking county authorities reported today.

Walker's body was found in a hog pen on the farm of Ernest Jones, 53. At a hospital, Jones was in critical condition from wounds inflicted by Walker.

Jones was shot in the abdomen but remained conscious long enough to telephone his son and a neighbor. The Jones farm is a half mile south of Granville. Deputy Sheriff William McElroy was investigating the cause of the shooting.

GIRL, 21, MAULED BY BEAR, MAY LOSE LEFT EYE

CLEVELAND, Oct. 27—(UP)—Julia Zemnick, prim 21-year-old art student, clawed savagely at the Brookside zoo by a giant female polar bear she was sketching, remained in serious condition today and physicians said she might lose her left eye.

The bear, "Silver", dragged the girl from a pillar high inside the bars of the animal pits yesterday and mauled her before attendants, hearing her screams, could rescue her.

Zoo officials said they would investigate whether or not more safeguards were needed around the cages, but Capt. Curley Wilson, head zookeeper, pointed out that the girl had had no right to be inside the pit bars without a permit.

DOLLAR LINER DAMAGED

LONDON, Oct. 27.—(UP)—Lloyd's shipping agency correspondent at Kobe, Japan, reported today that the American Dollar liner President Coolidge was slightly damaged there today when it struck a wharf. The liner was detained by Japanese authorities at Shanghai, on its way to Japan and the United States, until $4,500,000 worth of Chinese silver, consigned to the Chase National bank at New York, was removed.

LAST OBSTACLE REMOVED FROM PHONE REFUND

COLUMBUS, Oct. 27—(UP)—The last legal obstacle to payment of $7,200,000 in rate refunds by the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. to its subscribers in 45 Ohio cities was removed today.

A decision of the Ohio supreme court disposed of the only remaining case that delayed execution of the public utilities commission's final refund order in the 15-year rate battle, issued last April.

The commission found the telephone company had refundable excess earnings of $4,470,437 from 1925 to 1931, inclusive. It ordered this amount plus six percent interest, repaid to subscribers of those years, when the rates were collected under bond.

Interest on the excessive charges applies from the date of collection to the date of repayment. Commission accountants computed interest up to Dec. 31, 1938, at $2,750,293.

The supreme court overruled an effort by several Cleveland persons to protect the commission's refund order. They contended the final refund figure had been determined by a process of bargaining between the company and Attorney General Herbert S. Duffy, with sanction of the commission, rather than on the evidence brought out in hearings.

POLICE DECIDE CO-ED'S DEATH FALL PLANNED

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 27—(UP)—Coroner's investigators and detectives, convinced that the 10-story death plunge of Betty Bonner Fell, 21-year-old Temple co-ed, was suicide, continued their investigations today in search of a motive.

Coroner Charles H. Hersch said a note had been left. He would not reveal the contents.

Mrs. William T. Bonner of Trenton, the girl's grandmother, advanced the theory that she might have suffered an "emotional collapse" from studying too hard. Temple officials said, however, that she had taken no examinations yet.

BABY GIRL, WEIGHING 23 OUNCES, STAYS ALIVE IN HOSPITAL'S INCUBATOR

CHICAGO, Oct. 27—(UP)—A baby girl, weighing only 23 ounces, one of the tiniest ever born in Chicago, clung to life today in an incubator at St. Bernard's hospital.

She is Caroline Jean Freckleton, first child of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Freckleton. The mother, Jean, is 24.

The baby was born Tuesday night. She has received two blood transfusions from her father. She is not strong enough to swallow and physicians nourish her by injecting a solution of glucose and salt under the skin every three hours. The blood also was injected under the skin.

The smallest baby ever born in Chicago, perhaps in the country, was Jacqueline Jean Benson, who weighed 12 ounces at birth. She will be three years old Jan. 14.

Committee Watches Funds Given To Bulkley; Taft Expenses Checked

BY UNITED PRESS

The Ohio senatorial campaign again drew attention of the senate campaigns expenditures committee today.

In Washington the committee awaited a statement from Sen. Robert J. Bulkley on charges that federal officials contributed to his campaign committee and continued an investigation into expenditures for his Republican rival, Robert A. Taft.

The committee has held illegal contributions to any campaign committee by federal officials, ruling that they must donate only state or national committees.

A report of the Taft for senate committee of Cleveland was filed with the committee and Sen. Morris Sheppard, D., Tex., chairman of the senate group, announced it would continue a study of Taft expenditures.

ALL FUNDS GONE, DAYTON SCHOOLS TO CLOSE DOORS

DAYTON, Oct. 27—(UP)—Dayton's public schools were ordered closed indefinitely after Friday because of lack of operating funds.

The order from the board of education today meant that 34,000 students and 1,300 teachers would be kept from classes. Board members predicted the schools would remain closed at least six weeks.

If the board receives its $240,000 share from the state school foundation funds on Dec. 3, the schools probably will reopen. A two-mill levy will be voted on here on Nov. 8 but even if it passes, funds would not be available to the schools until next year.

School officials explained that there is enough money on hand to pay teachers as of tomorrow, but not thereafter. They said that the schools' financial difficulties dated back several years and were due partly to the defeat of several special school tax levies.

The action closing the schools in mid-term for financial reasons was unprecedented here.

BLUNT MESSAGE DEMANDS OPEN DOOR FOR TRADE

Arbitrary, Illegal Acts Against American Business Flayed

"EARLY REPLY" ADVISED

Censorship Of Mail And Telegrams Included In Protest

WASHINGTON Oct. 27—(UP)—The United States in a forcefully and bluntly worded note, has informed the Japanese government that she finds it increasingly difficult to "reconcile" herself to the trade situation which Japan has created in China.

The note charged that Japan had been responsible for "arbitrary and illegal" acts to the detriment of United States nationals and United States trade. It contrasted Japanese promises with Japanese performances and asked prompt measures to maintain the "open door" policy in China and to protect American interests.

The note was delivered to Foreign Minister Prince Fuminaro by American Ambassador Joseph C. Grew in Tokyo on Oct. 6, but it was not made public until today, 21 days afterward. The state department did not say whether Japan had replied and it was assumed that no formal reply had been made.

"Open Door" Pledged

The note reiterated the frequent previous complaints against Japanese violation of the principle of the "open door" in China which gives all foreign nations equal trade opportunities and to which both Japan and the United States are pledged. The complaint was against a situation in which American nationals are discriminated against in violation of this principle, the note said.

In its concluding paragraph with the bite of a whip snapper the note said:

"The government of the United States believes that in the interest of relations between the United States and Japan an early reply would be helpful."

Calling for "prompt and effective" measures to make good earlier Japanese assurances that the "open door" would be maintained, the note asked:

1. Discontinuance of exchange control and other measures in portions of China controled by Japan which discriminate against American trade.

2. Discontinuance of monopolistic or preferential Japanese projects which would deprive American nationals in China of opportunity to undertake legitimate trade or industry.

3. Discontinuance in China of Japanese interference with American property and other rights including censorship of mail and telegrams and restrictions on residence and travel by Americans and on American trade and shipping.

The note recalled that the Japanese government "has given categorical assurances that equality of opportunity or the open door in China will be maintained." It

LEGION DECIDES AGAINST PARADE ARMISTICE DAY

Howard Hall post, American Legion, will not sponsor a parade in Circleville on Armistice Day.

Legionnaires voted down the idea of a parade at their regular meeting Wednesday night. Lack of funds and the brief time in which to complete plans were given as the reasons for eliminating the parade.

A membership drive was opened Wednesday night with Lorin Dudleson, first vice commander, in charge. This campaign will close on Armistice day.

Members favored a suggestion that a dinner be held on Armistice Day as a closing feature of the membership drive. Definite plans for the dinner have not been made.

Fifty C. C. C. workers from Camp Hocking battled a forest fire in the Pleasant Hill district, south of Laurelville, for seven hours Wednesday before they brought it under control at 6:30 p. m.

No homes or buildings in the district were destroyed, rangers said. The fire was in the territory between Routes 56 and 327 about five miles south of Laurelville. It was in Hocking county near the edge of Ross county. Cause of the fire has not been determined.

Although no homes in the district were damaged, some residents were forced out by the dense smoke.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Oct. 27—(UP)—With 56 forest fires burning in West Virginia today, State Forester Dan B. Griffin expected high winds to create "the most hazardous fire condition in two and a half years."

COLUMBUS, Oct. 27—(UP)—The last legal obstacle to payment of $7,200,000 in rate refunds by the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. to its subscribers in 45 Ohio cities was removed today.

A decision of the Ohio supreme court disposed of the only remaining case that delayed execution of the public utilities commission's final refund order in the 15-year rate battle, issued last April.

The commission found the telephone company had refundable excess earnings of $4,470,437 from 1925 to 1931, inclusive. It ordered this amount plus six percent interest, repaid to subscribers of those years, when the rates were collected under bond.

Interest on the excessive charges applies from the date of collection to the date of repayment. Commission accountants computed interest up to Dec. 31, 1938, at $2,750,293.

The supreme court overruled an effort by several Cleveland persons to protect the commission's refund order. They contended the final refund figure had been determined by a process of bargaining between the company and Attorney General Herbert S. Duffy, with sanction of the commission, rather than on the evidence brought out in hearings.

POLICE DECIDE CO-ED'S DEATH FALL PLANNED

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 27—(UP)—Coroner's investigators and detectives, convinced that the 10-story death plunge of Betty Bonner Fell, 21-year-old Temple co-ed, was suicide, continued their investigations today in search of a motive.

Coroner Charles H. Hersch said a note had been left. He would not reveal the contents.

Mrs. William T. Bonner of Trenton, the girl's grandmother, advanced the theory that she might have suffered an "emotional collapse" from studying too hard. Temple officials said, however, that she had taken no examinations yet.

BABY GIRL, WEIGHING 23 OUNCES, STAYS ALIVE IN HOSPITAL'S INCUBATOR

CHICAGO, Oct. 27—(UP)—A baby girl, weighing only 23 ounces, one of the tiniest ever born in Chicago, clung to life today in an incubator at St. Bernard's hospital.

She is Caroline Jean Freckleton, first child of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Freckleton. The mother, Jean, is 24.

The baby was born Tuesday night. She has received two blood transfusions from her father. She is not strong enough to swallow and physicians nourish her by injecting a solution of glucose and salt under the skin every three hours. The blood also was injected under the skin.

The smallest baby ever born in Chicago, perhaps in the country, was Jacqueline Jean Benson, who weighed 12 ounces at birth. She will be three years old Jan. 14.

SENATE INQUIRY MOVES TO OHIO

Committee Watches Funds Given To Bulkley; Taft Expenses Checked

BY UNITED PRESS

The Ohio senatorial campaign again drew attention of the senate campaigns expenditures committee today.

In Washington the committee awaited a statement from Sen. Robert J. Bulkley on charges that federal officials contributed to his campaign committee and continued an investigation into expenditures for his Republican rival, Robert A. Taft.

The committee has held illegal contributions to any campaign committee by federal officials, ruling that they must donate only state or national committees.

A report of the Taft for senate committee of Cleveland was filed with the committee and Sen. Morris Sheppard, D., Tex., chairman of the senate group, announced it would continue a study of Taft expenditures.

Labor Debate Topic

Bulkley and Taft will meet in their fifth debate at Toledo tonight for a discussion of labor policy and will conclude their series at Cleveland Saturday. On cam-

ALL FUNDS GONE, DAYTON SCHOOLS TO CLOSE DOORS

DAYTON, Oct. 27—(UP)—Dayton's public schools were ordered closed indefinitely after Friday because of lack of operating funds.

The order from the board of education today meant that 34,000 students and 1,300 teachers would be kept from classes. Board members predicted the schools would remain closed at least six weeks.

If the board receives its $240,000 share from the state school foundation funds on Dec. 3, the schools probably will reopen. A two-mill levy will be voted on here on Nov. 8 but even if it passes, funds would not be available to the schools until next year.

School officials explained that there is enough money on hand to pay teachers as of tomorrow, but not thereafter. They said that the schools' financial difficulties dated back several years and were due partly to the defeat of several special school tax levies.

The action closing the schools in mid-term for financial reasons was unprecedented here.

$25 FOR RECKLESSNESS

David Adkins, 20, E. Main street, was fined $25 and costs by Mayor W. B. Cady Thursday when he admitted a charge of reckless operation of a truck on E. Main street Wednesday night. Police said Adkins was speeding. He arranged to pay his fine.

BLUNT MESSAGE DEMANDS OPEN DOOR FOR TRADE

Arbitrary, Illegal Acts Against American Business Flayed

"EARLY REPLY" ADVISED

Censorship Of Mail And Telegrams Included In Protest

WASHINGTON Oct. 27—(UP)—The United States in a forcefully and bluntly worded note, has informed the Japanese government that she finds it increasingly difficult to "reconcile" herself to the trade situation which Japan has created in China.

The note charged that Japan had been responsible for "arbitrary and illegal" acts to the detriment of United States nationals and United States trade. It contrasted Japanese promises with Japanese performances and asked prompt measures to maintain the "open door" policy in China and to protect American interests.

The note was delivered to Foreign Minister Prince Fuminaro by American Ambassador Joseph C. Grew in Tokyo on Oct. 6, but it was not made public until today, 21 days afterward. The state department did not say whether Japan had replied and it was assumed that no formal reply had been made.

"Open Door" Pledged

The note reiterated the frequent previous complaints against Japanese violation of the principle of the "open door" in China which gives all foreign nations equal trade opportunities and to which both Japan and the United States are pledged. The complaint was against a situation in which American nationals are discriminated against in violation of this principle, the note said.

In its concluding paragraph with the bite of a whip snapper the note said:

"The government of the United States believes that in the interest of relations between the United States and Japan an early reply would be helpful."

Calling for "prompt and effective" measures to make good earlier Japanese assurances that the "open door" would be maintained, the note asked:

1. Discontinuance of exchange control and other measures in portions of China controled by Japan which discriminate against American trade.

2. Discontinuance of monopolistic or preferential Japanese projects which would deprive American nationals in China of opportunity to undertake legitimate trade or industry.

3. Discontinuance in China of Japanese interference with American property and other rights including censorship of mail and telegrams and restrictions on residence and travel by Americans and on American trade and shipping.

The note recalled that the Japanese government "has given categorical assurances that equality of opportunity or the open door in China will be maintained." It

LEGION DECIDES AGAINST PARADE ARMISTICE DAY

Howard Hall post, American Legion, will not sponsor a parade in Circleville on Armistice Day.

Legionnaires voted down the idea of a parade at their regular meeting Wednesday night. Lack of funds and the brief time in which to complete plans were given as the reasons for eliminating the parade.

A membership drive was opened Wednesday night with Lorin Dudleson, first vice commander, in charge. This campaign will close on Armistice day.

Members favored a suggestion that a dinner be held on Armistice Day as a closing feature of the membership drive. Definite plans for the dinner have not been made.

F. D. R. REMINDS NATION OF NEED FOR GREAT NAVY

President's Note To Chief Of Sea Forces Features Holiday Observance

RE-ARMAMENT UNDER WAY

Commemorative Exercises To Be Held Throughout Country Today

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27—(UP)—President Roosevelt as commander-in-chief of the U. S. Navy led the nation today in its annual observance of Navy Day.

The celebration, one of the most extensive ever planned, was held in the midst of preparations for a vast re-armament program with special emphasis on naval equipment and forces.

On the eve of the maneuvers, drills and speeches marking the day, Mr. Roosevelt reminded the nation twice of the need for an increased national defense.

In addition to a radio address promising to continue the $1,000,000,000 a year preparedness program, he told Secretary of the Navy Swanson, in a letter observing Navy Day, that the United States is prepared to limit armaments but that unsettled world conditions made it necessary for this country to speed preparations for war.

Declaring that the "fleet must be ready" for instant action, he told Swanson that America's armed forces must be strong enough to "insure positive protection against any aggressor."

Programs Prepared

The Navy prepared special programs for the day at all shore stations and aboard all fighting ships. Navy yards, bases and ships in port will be "at home" until 5 p. m.

At the Washington navy yard special exhibitions and drills began shortly after 8 a. m. The celebration will close this afternoon with sham battles.

Throughout the country commemorative exercises will be held by civic, patriotic, religious and commercial organizatons. Where there are representatives of the navy, they will participate.

In his letter to Swanson, Mr. Roosevelt said:

"We should rejoice that on this day when the navy is at home to our people that we are at peace with all the world.

Increase Authorized

"But within the last year unsettled conditions have made it imperative that we take stock of our national defense and face facts.

The survey of defense requirements was brought to the attention of the congress with the result that an increase in the strength of the navy was authorized in approximation of the needs and responsibilities of our country.

"I believe it entirely consistent with our continuing readiness to limit armaments by agreements, that we maintain an efficient navy adequate in men and material to insure positive protection against any aggressor. The fleet must be ready."

JAMES LINTON TO SPEAK

James N. Linton, Columbus attorney and state central committeeman, will speak at a Republican meeting at 8 p. m. Thursday in Memorial hall. Music will be furnished by the Franklin County Republican Glee club.

Lipstick Traps Hit-Runner

MISS Dorothy Russell, of Auburndale, Mass., made cosmetic history by using her lipstick to write on her wrist the number of a car which she saw involved in a hit-and-run accident at Salisbury, Mass. Police used the number, which may be seen on her wrist, to arrest a Newburyport man.

Loan On Corn Geared Closely With 1938 AAA

COLUMBUS, Oct. 27—How the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1938 gears the loan mechanism more closely with the corn plan was explained by Secretary Wallace in a recent talk to farmers, according to E. F. Kruse, state chairman of A.A.A.

"Acreage adjustment, as you know, is step No. 1 in the Agricultural Adjustment Administration corn plan, step No. 2 is the corn loan," said Mr. Wallace. "You have had a corn loan of some kind every year since 1933, and as security for it have sealed your corn in cribs on your farms. A year ago this fall the rate of the corn loan was 50 cents a bushel. This last Summer, in view of the corn supply situation and in accordance with the provisions of the act, farmers were permitted to borrow up to 57 cents a bushel on the 1937 corn they still had in storage.

"Now the time is approaching when another loan will be made, and you are wondering what the rate will be. The rate is no longer optional with the Department of Agriculture, but will be set according to the formula contained in the act. That formula is a sliding scale—in other words, the smaller the corn supply the higher the loan can be. Apparently, in view of the supply situation that will exist, the loan rate on 1938 corn will be at least 57 cents.

"Unlike the cotton and wheat loans, the corn loan is definitely intended to impound surplus corn. It is intended to keep the surplus from being marketed or fed to livestock as rapidly as would otherwise be the case. That is why the loan at times can and should be made above the market price.

"But we must not ignore the dangers that would result from too high loans—that is, from loans that had not even a remote relation to the supply and price of corn. Just as we keep our horses busy at useful work, but do not work them to death, it is important that we use judgment and moderation in our handling of the corn loan. I think you will all agree that since 1933 the corn loan has been one of the most valuable parts of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration farm program. And so I urge you to cherish the corn loan, treat it as it should be treated, and it will continue to serve you well.

"The steps in the corn plan are absolutely voluntary. The farmer stays within his acreage allotment if he wants to conserve his soil and earn his payment. He decides whatever way he pleases. He applies for a loan if he wants to. Nobody can tell him what to do."

CANTOR ADDS DAUGHTERS

Four more daughters will be added temporarily to the Eddie Cantor family of five girls when he broadcasts his CBS show Monday, Oct. 31, at 7:30 p. m.

Rosemary, Priscilla and Lola Lane and Gale Page, famed "Four Daughters" of the screen, will appear on the Cantor program to sing as well as do a dramatic sketch.

All the Lane sisters, as well as Gale Page, will be at home before the microphone. Miss Page was a radio singer in Chicago when she was picked by a movie scout, and Lola Lane once had a musical program of her own from Hollywood. Priscilla and Rosemary were vocalists with Fred Waring's band not so long ago, and the band proved a springboard to Hollywood—and the films.

GRACIE TAKES UP FOOTBALL

Gracie Allen has a new Hallowe'en costume—and two tickets to a football game—so anything can happen on her CBS broadcast next Friday night. What probably will happen is that Gracie, with George Burns in tow, will go to the football game in her Hallowe'en costume, and carry a lighted football to the masquerade. Only time—specifically 8:30 p. m. will tell.

One or two items are fairly certain about the program: Gracie sings the hit tune, "F.D.R." Jones," Tony Martin warbles "I've Got a Date With a Dream," and Ray Noble—between tired out music hall jokes—will lead his orchestra in "I Used to Be Color Blind."

The goblins will be out replete in conventional Hollywood slacks and open-faced shirts for Jack Benny's Hallowe'en party over the NBC-Red network Sunday, Oct. 30, at 7 p. m.

Apple-bobbing will be the main feature of the evening with Andy Devine and Don Wilson—they're feuding, you know—holding each other's heads beneath water long enough for it not to make any further difference one way or the other.

Conservation Chief Maps Plan For Long-Range Development

COUNTY AREA INCLUDED

Big Program Under Way In Massillon District; Cost Is Enormous

A long range plan for a park development that will turn Ohio into a fisherman's paradise was announced in Columbus Thursday by State Conservation Commissioner Lawrence Woddell.

His plan calls for restoring Ohio's once magnificent 800-mile system of canals into a parked and landscaped system of inland waterways, stocked with fish, and ready for use as swimming and boating waters.

Granting that the program will take years and untold sums of money Mr. Wooddell said the work has already started on the old Ohio and Erie Canal in Stark county near Massillon where the conservation department is spending $300,000 to restore ten miles of the old canal with flood control dams, erosion control along feeder streams, and parkways on both banks and canals. As rapidly as possible this project for which the W. P. A. has provided $260,000, is to be extended on north toward Lake Erie through Akron and Cleveland.

The project also calls for developing the canal southward through Coshocton, Muskingum, Licking, Fairfield, Pickaway and Ross counties toward Portsmouth. Feeder canals eastward from Akron through Portage, Trumbull and Mahoning counties and from Stark county through Carroll and Columbiana are part of the plan. The old Miami and Erie canal in the western part of the state is to be similarly developed.

The proposal calls eventually for improving the old Ohio and Erie canal between Circleville and Chillicothe with a parkway on each side, dams, pathways and the restoration of old pools and basins as fishing grounds and swimming pools.

WELL, I'LL TELL YOU—

BY BOB BURNS

Maybe one reason why the police force is beginnin' to shut down on crime so much is because the public is beginnin' to take an active interest in the police force. The taxpayers are beginning to realize that they have a right to expect some service from the people they pay to enforce the law.

The other day a big headline appeared in the paper that said, "Man found murdered! Police at sea." My aunt pointed at the headline and said, "No wonder there's so much crime in this town—with the police force all out deep sea fishin'!"

By S. D. FRIDLEY
Phone Ashville 79

Thursday evening at the Parent-Teacher Association meeting at Walnut school, a reunion of the "children", some 25 of them, will be held there and if there is such a thing, they'll "steal the show". These "children" we are telling you of attended school some fifty years ago at school district Number Two Walnut township, house located on Route 23 near home of Cecil Noecker. We are giving a list of some of those who attended this named school then: Prince Moore, Jose Hedges, Edward Hedges, Ettie Hedges, Lizzie Hedges, Alma Cook, Anna Cook, Clinton Shook, Marion and George Shook, George and Alice Schuckers, Louis Beers, Edward and Fanny Nothstine, Charles, Edward and Caroline Gerhardt, John and Retta Ritt, Fred Cook, Clement Alexander, Emil and Mary Majors. This list may not be entirely correct. And among the names of the teachers listed are Thomas Morris, Stella Morris, Charles Rife, Carrie Rife, E. E. Smith, Frank Ward, Charles Peters, Harley Christy. And while we are telling of old time pupils and teachers, think we are making near a sure guess in saying that Jerome Peters at St. Paul, in his 91st year is the oldest living teacher in the county.

—Ashville—

SIX-WORD WILL PROBATED

LANCASTER, Pa. — (UP) — Mary D. Keefe left one of the shortest wills ever probated here. She wrote: "I leave everything to my sister."

Constipated? Then Ask Yourself This Question!

If constipation has you bogged down so you feel tired, sunk, all played out—it's time you asked yourself a question!

What have you had to eat lately? Just meat, bread, eggs, potatoes? It's no surprise you're constipated! The chances are you don't get enough "bulk." And "bulk" doesn't mean a lot of food. It's a kind of food that isn't consumed in the body, but leaves a soft "bulky" mass in the intestines and helps a bowel movement.

If this is what you lack, your ticket is crisp crunchy Kellogg's All-Bran for breakfast. It contains both "bulk" and the great intestinal tonic, vitamin B_1. And it's not a drug, not a medicine!

Eat All-Bran every day, drink plenty of water, and take a new lease on life! All-Bran is made by Kellogg's in Battle Creek. Sold by every grocer.

FASCISTS GIVE LIBYA RIGHTS, PRAISE JAPAN

ROME, Oct. 27 — (UP) — The Fascist grand council, at a meeting which ended early today, voted to give Libya the same status as the Italian mainland and to offer Japan felicitations on its capture of Canton and Hankow.

As regards Libya, across from Italy on the North African coast, it was decided that Libya should be considered as if it were part of the Italian mainland instead of as a colony. A special law is to be drafted and enacted.

Reliable quarters said that under the proposed law, part of the native population would be able to qualify as citizens. It was assumed that the new racial program would be taken into account, however, in any legislation.

The council voted special greetings to 20,000 Italian settlers who are to sail for Libya Saturday. It is hoped that eventually 300,000 Italians will settle there.

Of the Japanese victories, the grand council said:

"The Italian people feel themselves bound to Japan by a deep, sincere solidarity which is ideological, spiritual and political and which finds concrete expression in the Italian - German - Japanese pact."

The new upswept coiffure being what it is, a good many of the gals are going to win—or lose—by a neck.

WIDE UPSWING IN INDUSTRIAL OHIO STARTED

State Quick To Reflect Improved Trend Of Business

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 27—(UP)—Mass rehiring of Detroit automobile workers has inspired an upturn in highly industrial Ohio—where it has been said that depressions begin first and end soonest—which may exceed the Michigan spurt and point the way to a general national recovery.

The uptrend in Ohio—only state in the nation having eight cities of more than 100,000 population—is traced in steel, rubber and glass, necessities of the gigantic automobile industry, frequent barometers of the ups and downs of business.

Joining in the upturn which takes its cut from Detroit, are the highly industrial cities of Cleveland, Cincinnati, Columbus, Toledo, Akron and Youngstown.

The Fisher Body company, largest manufactury in this city, expects to add 300 production workers in the next fortnight to the 2,700 employed now. Fisher here in top times employs as many as 8,500.

Steel Takes Spurt

Youngstown, in the General Motors step-up in Michigan, sees promise of continued record steel production. Production there has risen from the low 40s to the high 50s in a few short weeks even without that stimulus.

Men who worked only one and two days weekly in Youngstown earlier this year now are back, generally, to a four and five-day schedule.

Toledo plants, which always have been closely linked with Michigan motor making, by nature and geography, already have felt the upturn.

The Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass company, in Toledo, pioneer maker of safety glass, has recalled 325 workers in its Toledo and surban Rossford plans. The Electric Auto-Lite company, which holds important Chrysler contracts, has reported a near 100-daily increase for two weeks, with a total of 3,200 working now.

Auto Gain Steady

And the United Automobile Workers, CIO affiliate, in Toledo have reported a daily average of 100 members returning to work in 26 automotive plants.

At Cincinnati, General Motors' Chevrolet and Fisher Body plants in suburban Norwood expect important employment increases. Chevrolet officials said that their production schedule for November was larger than for any other month of 1938.

In Columbus, workmen are being recalled in large numbers at the Timken Roller Bearing company. The D. L. Auld company, an automobile-accessory manufacturer, which makes hub caps, fender trims and other necessities for General Motors cars, has increased it payroll.

At Warren, O., a city of 40,000 between Cleveland and Youngstown, the Packard Electric division of General Motors has doubled its working force, in anticipation of increased auto production.

Iowa Farmer Tells World Fair He'll Be There, With 16 Goats

KESWICK, Ia., Oct. 27—(UP)—Charlie McCartney, 40-year-old Iowan, who farms 20 acres four miles southwest of here, is going to attend the New York World's Fair.

His wife and small son are going, too.

That's not unusual.

But—they're going to make the 1,150 trip in a homemade wagon drawn by two eight-goat teams.

The venture, if it is successful, will be a much greater achievement than the horsedrawn wagon trip Charlie made to Chicago for the Century of Progress in 1936.

That trip took him 18 days. He plans to allow himself 100 days for the New York trip, although he believes his goat teams can cover 20 miles a day.

McCartney is not certain just what he will do when and if he arrives in New York. He stayed in Chicago during the 1936 fair for three months. He was paid $100 a month and given horse feed. He helped pay his expenses by selling postcard pictures of himself and his rig, which was a made-over automobile body.

The McCartneys live in a non-descript house, which Charlie built himself. Using his goat teams, he hauled lumber for the house ten miles. He spurns tractors and horses for his farm work, preferring to use goat teams. He breaks them to drive himself and also makes all their harness and his farm implements.

McCartney describes the goats as "the meanest things that ever was." He insists "you have to work them to death." He once had 45 goats, but the dogs reduced their number to 18.

He wears his hair, as well as his beard, long. On rare occasions he cuts it. Because of his eccentricities, McCartney has many visitors. He greets them with hospitality, points to his turnip, potato and pop corn crops with pride.

Iowa Farmer Tells World Fair He'll Be There, With 16 Goats

KESWICK, Ia., Oct. 27—(UP)—Charlie McCartney, 40-year-old Iowan, who farms 20 acres four miles southwest of here, is going to attend the New York World's Fair.

His wife and small son are going, too.

That's not unusual.

But—they're going to make the 1,150 trip in a homemade wagon drawn by two eight-goat teams.

The venture, if it is successful, will be a much greater achievement than the horsedrawn wagon trip Charlie made to Chicago for the Century of Progress in 1936.

That trip took him 18 days. He plans to allow himself 100 days for the New York trip, although he believes his goat teams can cover 20 miles a day.

McCartney is not certain just what he will do when and if he arrives in New York. He stayed in Chicago during the 1936 fair for three months. He was paid $100 a month and given horse feed. He helped pay his expenses by selling postcard pictures of himself and his rig, which was a made-over automobile body.

The McCartneys live in a non-descript house, which Charlie built himself. Using his goat teams, he hauled lumber for the house ten miles. He spurns tractors and horses for his farm work, preferring to use goat teams. He breaks them to drive himself and also makes all their harness and his farm implements.

McCartney describes the goats as "the meanest things that ever was." He insists "you have to work them to death." He once had 45 goats, but the dogs reduced their number to 18.

He wears his hair, as well as his beard, long. On rare occasions he cuts it. Because of his eccentricities, McCartney has many visitors. He greets them with hospitality, points to his turnip, potato and pop corn crops with pride.

CHINESE COLLAPSE

THE great, rich city of Canton was surrendered to the Japanese almost without a struggle, and southern China is now bare to its enemies. Hankow, the second "provisional capital" of China, is falling. The invaders will soon be regarded, by ordinary standards, as in control of China. The rest will look like a mere "mopping up" job.

Yet appearances once more may be deceptive. The resistance shown so far in this strange war has belied the expectations of experts and astonished the Japanese themselves. If there is an end of ordinary strategy, with no organized armies left in the field and cities no longer defending themselves, the Chinese people may still go on fighting the guerrilla warfare once practised by the Filipinos to our own cost.

The Chinese for many months now have used this method against the Japanese troops, operating in small bands that move and strike at night, and by day revert to the status of peaceful workmen and farmers. Against this hit-and-run fighting the invaders, moving in long, thin lines and huddled in towns, are almost helpless. They are hampered by their own habits and temperament, being gregarious rather than individualistic like Chinese or Americans.

Against such invisible warfare the Japanese might wear themselves out until they made some kind of tolerable peace which, though taking tribute of China in some form, would leave the nation intact and more unified than before.

AUTO HATCHES

PERHAPS the most striking innovation in the new automobiles is the movable lid on top provided on some models and called a "sunshine roof." It slides back like a hatch on the deck of a boat, leaving the top of the car, over the front seat, open to the sun and air.

This ought to satisfy the sun cultists and fresh air fiends. It can be opened to any extent desired, and is said to be easily controlled. With the windows below closed, it may be comfortable even in cold weather. Some motorists have been demanding such a device for many years.

First we fight over our ideologies and then we fight over the way to pronounce 'em. Now, for instance, how do YOU pronounce "Fascism" or "Nazism" or "ideology"?

This is the season of the year when the most beautfiul thing in the world is a new car.

We have artificial vitamins for all sorts of physical deficiencies, and the next thing should be a set of economic vitamins.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN,

LABOR PEACE NEARER

WASHINGTON — Madame Perkins frequently is more optimistic than practical, but there are a few hopeful straws behind her optimism regarding CIO-AFL peace.

1st, public response to the harmony talk has been extremely favorable, which is a telling effect on the rival labor camps.

2nd, Miss Perkins has the help of two extremely able union leaders—David Dubinsky, of the International Ladies' Garment Workers, and Daniel Tobin, head of the Teamsters, also an intimate pal of Jim Farley. Dubinsky and Tobin long have been peace advocates.

As a member of the AFL Executive Council, Tobin tried to prevent a split at the time the CIO was expelled. Dubinsky's union, although affiliated with the CIO, has not been kicked out by the AFL. He has been working hard behind the scenes for rapprochement.

3rd, despite bristling expletives, inside fact is that most AFL-CIO leaders want peace. A few irreconcilable die-hards (Matthew Woll of the photo-engravers, Arthur Wharton of the machinists, William Hutchinson of the carpenters) still want a fight to the finish, but the great majority are anxious to make up.

Although both organizations deny it, actually they are in a bad way financially and continued warfare will bust them.

Another peace factor is that every move made by Miss Perkins so far has been guided by Tobin and Dubinsky. She has conferred with them secretly several times and is in constant touch by telephone. This is important; because without advice, well-intentioned Miss Perkins has a penchant for jumping the rails at crucial moments.

Present Tobin-Dubinsky-Perkins strategy is to continue building up public peace sentiment, while quietly preparing the ground for a peace conference by winning individual leaders over to the plan. When a sufficient bloc has been lined up, a public invitation will be issued to the AFL and CIO—possibly by Roosevelt himself—to sit down together and talk peace.

SELF-PURGER

Comment of a White House intimate upon reading a press interview in which Senator Burton K. Wheeler, anti-New Deal leader, declared he "probably would not run for re-election in 1940":

"Ah, a self-purger. How nice."

JOURNALISM PRIZE

Plans for a new national journalism prize were laid before Roosevelt recently by John and Gardner Cowles, Jr., young publishers of The Des Moines Register-Tribune and the picture magazine Look.

They propose an annual award to the newspaper distinguished for the "fairest and most impartial" handling of news. There is no Pulitzer prize for this.

When the Cowles brothers discussed this with the President at a recent White House luncheon, he was very enthusiastic and made several suggestions on how the contest should be judged.

The Cowles brothers explained that their idea was prompted by the desire to demonstrate that most newspapers are fair in their treatment of the news. They admitted that Roosevelt's criticism of certain papers was just, but tactfully suggested that the next time he took a whack at the press he use a rifle instead of a shotgun.

ROMANCE INC.

BY OREN ARNOLD

WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

READ THIS FIRST:

Sara Sue Davis, attractive young widow, with the aid of her mother-in-law, rents a cottage near the campus of Rice Institute, in Texas, in preparation for the launching of a unique business venture. Bob Towne, football end and campus hero, and some of the other students, are arrested by the new sign in front of the Davis cottage announcing a "COUNSEL IN ROMANCE". Sara Sue explains her Cottage Plan to a group of students and finds them greatly interested. Bob Towne even asks HER for a date. Against her better judgment, Sara Sue goes dancing with Senior Towne. She enjoys the evening, but as he leaves her he kisses her impetuously.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

"... you've bitten off more than you can chew."

CHAPTER 5

SARA SUE had breakfast late next morning. Cleopatra brought iced cantaloupe and toast and coffee and marmalade into her bedroom, pampering her more than she had expected.

"Thanks, Cleo. It's sweet of you."

"Yassum, tain't no trouble a tall. You needs yo' rest."

But she was up and going at 9 o'clock, and at 10 she was downtown. She had to deposit some money—not a great deal, although it seemed so—and purchase a few things. She knew the Rice students would be busy with registration for classes until noon. After that, maybe a few more would come to confer about her Cottage Plan.

She missed a guess there, though.

The Rice students were coming to her place by 11 o'clock, and when she returned at noon a dozen or more were in her big living room waiting for her and playing her phonograph.

"I'm so sorry!" she apologized. "I didn't think anybody would come until after noon."

"You don't realize how well known you are, Mrs. Davis," a junior lad announced. "You've got something here."

"May freshmen join, too?" an obvious freshman asked.

"Surely," she smiled at him. "Especially freshmen. They are likely to be loneliest of all, at first. Were you interested?"

He definitely was. He was a cute kid. A slender fellow, surely not over 18, maybe 17.

He looked sheltered. His hands were pink. But his face was juvenile, too, and so it didn't matter; he just looked young. He said that his name was Worthington and that he did not like to be called Worthy. Which of course was a sad mistake, for everybody there instantly began calling him Worthy. Everyone, that is, except Sara Sue. Last name, please? Gurley.

Worthington Gurley, you see, is aristocratic. Worthy Gurley is—well, funny. The upperclassmen discovered that instantly. Sophomores made meat of it, as they do of all freshmen, and one fertile-brained soph was orating an extemporaneous limerick:

"There was a young man named
Gurley,
Hatched from a shell so pearly,
Worthy was he,
As pink as could be—
He was hatched a great deal too early."

The upperclassmen all guffawed and applauded, but Sara Sue was careful to smile only at them.

"Come into my private office, Worthington, and we can talk there," she invited. "The poetry out here is terrible. And the manners worse."

Worthy Gurley signed up. Blessed with abundant money, this impressionable freshman paid $27, a full nine months in advance.

"Maybe you'd better be cautious," Sara Sue counseled him. "You might—well, you might bust out. Rice has very high scholastic standing, and—"

"Oh, no, I was valedictorian at home."

"O. K. Fine!" She took his money and smiled at him.

That was the second time she had smiled directly at him. And when Sara Sue Davis smiled directly at anybody twice, she made an indelible impression. Mr. Worthington Gurley swallowed hard, blushed and departed.

When the crowd dispersed for lunch, one man remained at Sara Sue's door. She didn't quite catch his name when he mentioned it, but she didn't want to offend and so didn't ask it again. They sat on her sofa to talk. She didn't think he was a student. He was youngish, but not quite that young. Still, he might be a graduate student, working for his Ph. D.

"I just want to ask one little favor, please, Mrs. Davis," the gentleman said. He smiled nicely. Sara Sue liked him.

"Yes, surely."

"We, ah, Rice won a football championship last year. We may not repeat, but we want to do the best we can this fall. We want to maintain a fighting, efficient team. Don't we?"

"Yes. Yes, indeed!" Sara Sue was wondering about him now.

"Thanks. I knew you would say that. I could tell by your manner. I knew your husband, too. Fine boy. He wouldn't have chosen anything but a fine girl. Well, many thanks again. I'll be going."

He arose, and started to leave. Sara Sue was sadly confused.

"But the favor, Mr. —— I'm sorry, I didn't quite understand your name when you came in."

"Britt. Coach Britt."

They looked at each other seriously for a long moment. Then both suddenly smiled.

"I understand. Bob told you about the accident last night?"

Coach Britt nodded.

"I can—control things, Coach. And I will."

"You don't know Bob Towne, I'm afraid. He moves fast. And gets what he goes after. He's in love with you. He's telling everybody. He's the kind to shout it from the housetops."

"There is still no cause for worry, Coach."

"You are a very attractive girl. And young."

"Thank you. But, I am not in love with Bob. And since you ask it, I shall certainly not go out with him again."

Coach Britt looked aghast.

"But I did not ask that! No! That would be worst of all, Mrs. Davis. If one of my lads is in love, or imagines he is, don't you see how a broken heart would upset him? He would be too upset to play football well!"

"Are you, then—listen, Coach Britt. I'm making a business of my Counsel in Romance, remember. See my sign out there? The fee will be $3 a month, please! Even though it's somebody else's romance you are interested in!"

They laughed together at that. They talked a bit more, and Sara Sue promised, in all seriousness, to do what she could to keep Bob Towne's emotions on an even keel.

When the coach had gone, she grabbed a bite of lunch, thinking the while. Business, she realized, was stacking up on her; business details. But it certainly was interesting.

The callers she had after 1 o'clock almost overwhelmed her, even though a drizzle of rain had begun. Her afternoon seemed like one long happy house party, but her little desk was gathering a pile of bills and checks, too. All of the students had money on the opening week of school, and lest they go broke later, most of them paid not one, but several months in advance.

By 5 p. m., though, the rain seemed to take offense at the fact that people were ignoring it. Instead of just pouring and roaring, it began snorting and snatching.

"Winter comin' early," Calculus Jones ventured, from his kitchen corner where he watched his wife cook.

"Hush yo' mouf and go jog up Miss Sara Sue's furnace," Cleo ordered.

When the students all departed for their various dinners, Sara Sue had a half hour alone. It was time to think. She was delighted with the results of her planning. At the rate customers were signing, she would have her 100 before the week was over.

Bob Towne phoned at 6 o'clock, saying he would call for her promptly at 8. It took 15 minutes of her best conversation to tell him no.

At 7 p. m. the front door seemed to explode open, and a sou'wester lad dripped in.

"Worthington!" Sara Sue was astonished. "You'll drown!"

He was far from drowning, though. He had a goal. His goal was to take Sara Sue to a dinner, a theater, a movie, a night club, any or all four. He had his car. He pleaded. He looked like somebody's little brother. It was hard to tell him no; the process took half an hour.

Nobody else dared the rainstorm until 9:30, when an insistent honking brought Sara Sue to her front porch. A blue car stood at her curb, 30 feet away. The driver, a woman, honked again.

Sara Sue couldn't understand why the caller didn't come in. Still, hospitality is hospitality. There must be some good reason. She hastened to get her coat, throwing it carelessly over head and all because she expected to dart right into some friend's car and talk a moment. The motor was still purring.

But the driver did not open a door. Instead, she lowered a window and held the door closed. A stench of alcohol struck Sara Sue.

"Just wanted to warn you, my darling, that you've bitten off more than you can chew!" the driver mouthed at her, contemptuously.

In a rush then the window closed and the car rolled away, leaving Sara Sue Davis, Inc., standing there appalled.

Basal Metabolism Aids in Diagnosis

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

IN DISCUSSING the central function of the body last week, nutrition, or metabolism, which is the process in the tissues of converting food and oxygen into energy, we reviewed the specific action of the various foodstuffs in the body, but we did not have space to discuss the general basal metabolism of the body, the total sum of all their activities. In order to pick up the loose ends, we will discuss that subject in one or two articles this week.

It must be evident that there is a basal metabolism which is the sum of all the changes made by the conversion of food. This is manifest in the maintainance of a level of the body temperature. If the food is burned in the tissues, which it is, there must be some heat generated. There is and that is why your body remains at the temperature of 98 even on the coldest day of winter.

The study of the basal metabolism has been found very useful in studying certain cases in clinical medicine.

Measure All Food

Nominally, the way to study it would be to measure exactly all the food that goes into the body, then collect all the by-products—the amount of nitrogen and other substances in the urine and feces, the perspiration, the breath—then measure the amount of heat the body has formed and given off in a given time, and the weight of the body before and after. In that way we can measure the amount of energy that is furnished by any food.

As a matter of record, exactly all this tedious work was done in the early experiments on the subject, and we learned the most exact details about the energy value of foods, details which have made dietetics today one of the most scientific branches of medical knowledge.

The unit of measurement of the energy value of foods is expressed in the heat unit—the calorie. A calorie, as used in dietetics, is the amount of heat needed to raise one kilogram of water one degree centigrade (or one pound of water four degrees fahrenheit). Carbohydrates yield four calories per gram, proteins four and fats nine calories. The work the body does is also expressed in calories. If you rise from a sitting position in front of a door, turn the key in the door and then sit down again, you use up one calorie. In walking half a mile, you use up one calorie for every pound of body weight.

Delicately Balanced

The amount of energy the body expends and the amount taken in the food are very delicately balanced and regulated by the appetite. Sometimes this regulation fails and food is stored in the body in the form of fat.

Measurement of basal metabolism nowadays is carried on in a much simpler manner than that indicated above. It is done by simply measuring the amount of oxygen that is consumed by the body at complete rest. The facts thus gathered are very valuable in the diagnosis of disturbances of the thyroid gland.

Gas in Stomach or Bloating No Longer Annoy This Lady

Tells how Vendol relieved indigestion, acid stomach, lump in throat, palpitation, belching up food and other troubles due to bad case of constipation.

"I got almost unbelievable relief by taking Vendol after I had suffered many a day from troubles in my stomach," said Mrs. Charles Worpek, a popular young matron, with a host of friends in this city.

"Recently, it seemed most everything went wrong, and I began to suffer with indigestion that turned my food to gas and sometimes almost doubled me with cramps, nervousness that cut my sleep down terribly, spots before my eyes and bad taste in my mouth and with pains that stretched across the small of my back.

"Because I had tried so many other medicines which failed to give the desired relief, it is not surprising that I was doubtful about Vendol helping me like everyone around here was saying it did for them.

"But in two weeks, this grand medicine surely changed my mind. Now, after a few more weeks on it, my bowels are moving as they should, my digestion is equal to even the heaviest meal, nerves have quieted and let me sleep, the spots before my eyes and the bad taste have vanished and the pain across my back never bothers me any more. Vendol is the best medicine ever, and I want to recommend it to both old and young people who are troubled like I used to be. I am sure Vendol will help everyone who will give it a chance."

To many people the word "conservative" suggests something covered with moss or ivy, resisting change and progress.

The real meaning of "conservative" is to preserve, to keep whole and sound. A man who "keeps up" his property by paint and repairs, or extends the life of his car by careful attention to tires, finish, and upholstery—is conservative.

This bank is conservative and proud of it. We maintain our strength; we keep our service polished up to its highest efficiency; we follow safe, established banking principles—all of which mean protection for your interests.

CHINESE COLLAPSE

THE great, rich city of Canton was surrendered to the Japanese almost without a struggle, and southern China is now bare to its enemies. Hankow, the second "provisional capital" of China, is falling. The invaders will soon be regarded, by ordinary standards, as in control of China. The rest will look like a mere "mopping up" job.

Yet appearances once more may be deceptive. The resistance shown so far in this strange war has belied the expectations of experts and astonished the Japanese themselves. If there is an end of ordinary strategy, with no organized armies left in the field and cities no longer defending themselves, the Chinese people may still go on fighting the guerrilla warfare once practised by the Filipinos to our own cost.

The Chinese for many months now have used this method against the Japanese troops, operating in small bands that move and strike at night, and by day revert to the status of peaceful workmen and farmers. Against this hit-and-run fighting the invaders, moving in long, thin lines and huddled in towns, are almost helpless. They are hampered by their own habits and temperament, being gregarious rather than individualistic like Chinese or Americans.

Against such invisible warfare the Japanese might wear themselves out until they made some kind of tolerable peace which, though taking tribute of China in some form, would leave the nation intact and more unified than before.

AUTO HATCHES

PERHAPS the most striking innovation in the new automobiles is the movable lid on top provided on some models and called a "sunshine roof." It slides back like a hatch on the deck of a boat, leaving the top of the car, over the front seat, open to the sun and air.

This ought to satisfy the sun cultists and fresh air fiends. It can be opened to any extent desired, and is said to be easily controlled. With the windows below closed, it may be comfortable even in cold weather. Some motorists have been demanding such a device for many years.

First we fight over our ideologies and then we fight over the way to pronounce 'em. Now, for instance, how do YOU pronounce "Fascism" or "Nazism" or "ideology"?

This is the season of the year when the most beautfiul thing in the world is a new car.

We have artificial vitamins for all sorts of physical deficiencies, and the next thing should be a set of economic vitamins.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN,

LABOR PEACE NEARER

WASHINGTON — Madame Perkins frequently is more optimistic than practical, but there are a few hopeful straws behind her optimism regarding CIO-AFL peace.

1st, public response to the harmony talk has been extremely favorable, which is a telling effect on the rival labor camps.

2nd, Miss Perkins has the help of two extremely able union leaders—David Dubinsky, of the International Ladies' Garment Workers, and Daniel Tobin, head of the Teamsters, also an intimate pal of Jim Farley. Dubinsky and Tobin long have been peace advocates.

As a member of the AFL Executive Council, Tobin tried to prevent a split at the time the CIO was expelled. Dubinsky's union, although affiliated with the CIO, has not been kicked out by the AFL. He has been working hard behind the scenes for rapprochement.

3rd, despite bristling expletives, inside fact is that most AFL-CIO leaders want peace. A few irreconcilable die-hards (Matthew Woll of the photo-engravers, Arthur Wharton of the machinists, William Hutchinson of the carpenters) still want a fight to the finish, but the great majority are anxious to make up.

Although both organizations deny it, actually they are in a bad way financially and continued warfare will bust them.

Another peace factor is that every move made by Miss Perkins so far has been guided by Tobin and Dubinsky. She has conferred with them secretly several times and is in constant touch by telephone. This is important; because without advice, well-intentioned Miss Perkins has a penchant for jumping the rails at crucial moments.

Present Tobin-Dubinsky-Perkins strategy is to continue building up public peace sentiment, while quietly preparing the ground for a peace conference by winning individual leaders over to the plan. When a sufficient bloc has been lined up, a public invitation will be issued to the AFL and CIO—possibly by Roosevelt himself—to sit down together and talk peace.

SELF-PURGER

Comment of a White House intimate upon reading a press interview in which Senator Burton K. Wheeler, anti-New Deal leader, declared he "probably would not run for re-election in 1940":

JOURNALISM PRIZE

Plans for a new national journalism prize were laid before Roosevelt recently by John and Gardner Cowles, Jr., young publishers of The Des Moines Register-Tribune and the picture magazine Look.

They propose an annual award to the newspaper distinguished for the "fairest and most impartial" handling of news. There is no Pulitzer prize for this.

When the Cowles brothers discussed this with the President at a recent White House luncheon, he was very enthusiastic and made several suggestions on how the contest should be judged.

The Cowles brothers explained that their idea was prompted by the desire to demonstrate that most newspapers are fair in their treatment of the news. They admitted that Roosevelt's criticism of certain papers was just, but tactfully suggested that the next time he took a whack at the press he use a rifle instead of a shotgun.

ROMANCE INC.

BY OREN ARNOLD

WRITTEN FOR AND RELEASED BY CENTRAL PRESS ASSOCIATION

READ THIS FIRST:

Sara Sue Davis, attractive young widow, with the aid of her mother-in-law, rents a cottage near the campus of Rice Institute, in Texas, in preparation for the launching of a unique business venture. Bob Towne, football end and campus hero, and some of the other students, are arrested by the new sign in front of the Davis cottage announcing a "COUNSEL IN ROMANCE". Sara Sue explains her Cottage Plan to a group of students and finds them greatly interested. Bob Towne even asks HER for a date. Against her better judgment, Sara Sue goes dancing with Senior Towne. She enjoys the evening, but as he leaves her he kisses her impetuously.

(NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY)

"... you've bitten off more than you can chew."

CHAPTER 5

SARA SUE had breakfast late next morning. Cleopatra brought iced cantaloupe and toast and coffee and marmalade into her bedroom, pampering her more than she had expected.

"Thanks, Cleo. It's sweet of you."

"Yassum, tain't no trouble a tall. You needs yo' rest."

But she was up and going at 9 o'clock, and at 10 she was downtown. She had to deposit some money—not a great deal, although it seemed so—and purchase a few things. She knew the Rice students would be busy with registration for classes until noon. After that, maybe a few more would come to confer about her Cottage Plan.

She missed a guess there, though.

The Rice students were coming to her place by 11 o'clock, and when she returned at noon a dozen or more were in her big living room waiting for her and playing her phonograph.

"I'm so sorry!" she apologized. "I didn't think anybody would come until after noon."

"You don't realize how well known you are, Mrs. Davis," a junior lad announced. "You've got something here."

"May freshmen join, too?" an obvious freshman asked.

"Surely," she smiled at him. "Especially freshmen. They are likely to be loneliest of all, at first. Were you interested?"

He definitely was. He was a cute kid. A slender fellow, surely not over 18, maybe 17.

He looked sheltered. His hands were pink. But his face was juvenile, too, and so it didn't matter; he just looked young. He said that his name was Worthington and that he did not like to be called Worthy. Which of course was a sad mistake, for everybody there instantly began calling him Worthy. Everyone, that is, except Sara Sue. Last name, please? Gurley.

Worthington Gurley, you see, is aristocratic. Worthy Gurley is—well, funny. The upperclassmen discovered that instantly. Sophomores made meat of it, as they do of all freshmen, and one fertile-brained soph was orating an extemporaneous limerick:

"There was a young man named Gurley,
Hatched from a shell so pearly,
Worthy was he,
As pink as could be—
He was hatched a great deal too early."

The upperclassmen all guffawed and applauded, but Sara Sue was careful to smile only at them.

"Come into my private office, Worthington, and we can talk there," she invited. "The poetry out here is terrible. And the manners worse."

Worthy Gurley signed up. Blessed with abundant money, this impressionable freshman paid $27, a full nine months in advance.

"Maybe you'd better be cautious," Sara Sue counseled him. "You might—well, you might bust out. Rice has very high scholastic standing, and—"

"Oh, no, I was valedictorian at home."

"O. K. Fine!" She took his money and smiled at him.

That was the second time she had smiled directly at him. And when Sara Sue Davis smiled directly at anybody twice, she made an indelible impression. Mr. Worthington Gurley swallowed hard, blushed and departed.

When the crowd dispersed for lunch, one man remained at Sara Sue's door. She didn't quite catch his name when he mentioned it, but she didn't want to offend and so didn't ask it again. They sat on her sofa to talk. She didn't think he was a student. He was youngish, but not quite that young. Still, he might be a graduate student, working for his Ph. D.

"I just want to ask one little favor, please, Mrs. Davis," the gentleman said. He smiled nicely. Sara Sue liked him.

"Yes, surely."

"We, ah, Rice won a football championship last year. We may not repeat, but we want to do the best we can this fall. We want to maintain a fighting, efficient team. Don't we?"

"Yes. Yes, indeed!" Sara Sue was wondering about him now.

"Thanks. I knew you would say that. I could tell by your manner. I knew your husband, too. Fine boy. He wouldn't have chosen anything but a fine girl. Well, many thanks again. I'll be going."

He arose, and started to leave. Sara Sue was sadly confused.

"But the favor, Mr. —— I'm sorry, I didn't quite understand your name when you came in."

"Britt. Coach Britt."

They looked at each other seriously for a long moment. Then both suddenly smiled.

"I understand. Bob told you about the accident last night?"

Coach Britt nodded.

"I can—control things, Coach. And I will."

"You don't know Bob Towne, I'm afraid. He moves fast. And gets what he goes after. He's in love with you. He's telling everybody. He's the kind to shout it from the housetops."

"There is still no cause for worry, Coach."

"You are a very attractive girl. And young."

"Thank you. But, I am not in love with Bob. And since you ask it, I shall certainly not go out with him again."

Coach Britt looked aghast.

"But I did not ask that! No! That would be worst of all, Mrs. Davis. If one of my lads is in love, or imagines he is, don't you see how a broken heart would upset him? He would be too upset to play football well!"

"Are you, then—listen, Coach Britt. I'm making a business of my Counsel in Romance, remember. See my sign out there? The fee will be $3 a month, please! Even though it's somebody else's romance you are interested in!"

They laughed together at that. They talked a bit more, and Sara Sue promised, in all seriousness, to do what she could to keep Bob Towne's emotions on an even keel.

When the coach had gone, she grabbed a bite of lunch, thinking the while. Business, she realized, was stacking up on her; business details. But it certainly was interesting.

The callers she had after 1 o'clock almost overwhelmed her, even though a drizzle of rain had begun. Her afternoon seemed like one long happy house party, but her little desk was gathering a pile of bills and checks, too. All of the students had money on the opening week of school, and lest they go broke later, most of them paid not one, but several months in advance.

By 5 p. m., though, the rain seemed to take offense at the fact that people were ignoring it. Instead of just pouring and roaring, it began snorting and snatching.

"Winter comin' early," Calculus Jones ventured, from his kitchen corner where he watched his wife cook.

"Hush yo' mouf and go jog up Miss Sara Sue's furnace," Cleo ordered.

When the students all departed for their various dinners, Sara Sue had a half hour alone. It was time to think. She was delighted with the results of her planning. At the rate customers were signing, she would have her 100 before the week was over.

Bob Towne phoned at 6 o'clock, saying he would call for her promptly at 8. It took 15 minutes of her best conversation to tell him no.

At 7 p. m. the front door seemed to explode open, and a sou'wester lad dripped in.

"Worthington!" Sara Sue was astonished. "You'll drown!"

He was far from drowning, though. He had a goal. His goal was to take Sara Sue to a dinner, a theater, a movie, a night club, any or all four. He had his car. He pleaded. He looked like somebody's little brother. It was hard to tell him no; the process took half an hour.

Gas in Stomach or Bloating No Longer Annoy This Lady

Tells how Vendol relieved indigestion, acid stomach, lump in throat, palpitation, belching up food and other troubles due to bad case of constipation.

MRS. CHARLES WORPEK

"I got almost unbelievable relief by taking Vendol after I had suffered many a day from troubles in my stomach," said Mrs. Charles Worpek, a popular young matron, with a host of friends in this city.

"Recently, it seemed most everything went wrong, and I began to suffer with indigestion that turned my food to gas and sometimes almost doubled me with cramps, nervousness that cut my sleep down terribly, spots before my eyes and bad taste in my mouth and with pains that stretched across the small of my back.

"Because I had tried so many other medicines which failed to give the desired relief, it is not surprising, that I was doubtful about Vendol helping me like everyone around here was saying it did for them.

"But in two weeks, this grand medicine surely changed my mind. Now, after a few more weeks on it, my bowels are moving as they should, my digestion is equal to even the heaviest meal, nerves have quieted and let me sleep, the spots before my eyes and the bad taste have vanished and the pain across my back never bothers me any more Vendol is the best medicine ever, and I want to recommend it to both old and young people who are troubled like I used to be. I am sure Vendol will help everyone who will give it a chance."

If you need a good, safe, reliable medicine, get Vendol without delay from your nearest druggist. It is highly recommended here by

WHAT OUR Conservative Policies
MEAN TO YOU

To many people the word "conservative" suggests something covered with moss or ivy, resisting change and progress.

The real meaning of "conservative" is to preserve, to keep whole and sound. A man who "keeps up" his property by paint and repairs, or extends the life of his car by careful attention to tires, finish, and upholstery—is conservative.

This bank is conservative and proud of it. We maintain our strength; we keep our service polished up to its highest efficiency; we follow safe, established banking principles—all of which mean protection for your interests.

Arbitrary, Illegal Acts Against American Business Flayed

cited specific Japanese assurances of last July 4 and then enumerated instances which the United States charged were violations of that policy.

The note charged "unwarranted" restriction by Japanese military authorities on Americans in China despite treaty rights and repeated Japanese assurances. It contended that Americans had been deprived of free opportunity and excluded from fields suddenly reserved for Japanese. It said American interests were suffering also in Japan itself from "industrial, trade, exchange, and other controls which the Japanese government has imposed incident to its military operations in China." And it reminded Japan that the United States had made no effort to handicap Japanese nationals similarly in the United States or elsewhere.

"American nationals and their interests," the note said, "have suffered serious losses in the Far East arising from causes directly attributable to the present conflict between Japan and China, and even under the most favorable conditions an early rehabilitation of American enterprise in China and of American trade with China cannot be expected.

"The American government, therefore, finds it all the more difficult to reconcile itself to a situation in which American nationals must contend with continuing unwarranted interference with their rights at the hands of Japanese authorities in China and with Japanese actions and policies which operate to deprive American trade and enterprise of equality of opportunity in China."

The note charged Japan with these illegal acts:

1. Japanese organization of the Central China Telecommunications Co., Shanghai, to control all telecommunication in central China.

2. Japanese organization of the Shanghai Inland Navigation Co., to control water transportation in the Shanghai delta area.

3. Japanese organization of a company to operate the wharves at Tsingtao.

4. Developments in the north China wool and tobacco trades.

5. Creation of special promotion companies to be controlled by the Japanese government to unify and regulate large sectors of economic enterprise in China.

of the state system had never been made formally to the board. The only knowledge the board has had of Davey's request was through newspaper accounts, Ferguson quoted Bigge as saying.

The auditor said he explained to the board member that he had been placed in a difficult position because the state division had held that he had no power to write the checks for only the state's share and no money was available from the government to write them for the full amount.

DARBY TWP. SCHOOL NEWS

The Ohio pen movie "Life in the Big House" was shown to the school last Friday by Boggs Brothers, the producers. An exhibit of articles made by prisoners was made. An interesting and instructive talk was given preceding the show. The show was an excellent lesson of the negative type against wrong thinking and crime.

Athough not quite good enough for one of the prizes, Darby's school exhibit at the Pumpkin Show was very fine. It was arranged by a committee consisting of three of the local teachers.

Basketball practice got under way in earnest last week, there being large squads of both boys and girls. They hope to be ready for the first game on Nov. 11 at Ashville.

School will be dismissed on Nov. 4 to permit the teachers to attend the Central Ohio Teachers' meeting in Columbus on that day and on the fifth.

Mr. Earhart, a representative of the Ohio College association, gave a very fine and instructive talk on "Getting Ready for Life" to an assembly of the high school on Oct. 13. The Seniors filled out cards that designated their probable choices of vocations and the colleges they were interested in.

An athletic carnival, a Hallowe'en party in which the entire high school will participate, will be held Friday night, October 28.

The honor roll for the first six weeks follows: Second Grade—Joan Riley, Harold Dick, Mary Ellen Grabill; Third Grade—Patsy Dick, Betsy Mouser, Virginia Flory; Fourth Grade — Charles Flory, Betty Riddle, Hilda Creamer, Marybelle Downs, Aloma Graessle, Patty Harness, Eileen Ladley; Fifth Grade — Kathleen Connell, Mary Lou Downs, John L. DIES CONTINUES 'R E D' HEARINGS DESPITE APPEAL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27—(UP)—The house committee investigating un-American activities has rejected an appeal by two Democratic members that it postpone further hearing until after the Nov. 8 general election, it was learned today.

Chairman Dies, D., Tex., announced that he had received a message from Reps. Healey, D., Mass., and Dempsey, D., N. M. Both congressmen are loyal administration supporters. He said he would reply to them later today.

It was learned that Healey and Dempsey asked a suspension of committee hearings which have drawn the censure of President Roosevelt. The President spoke out in defense of Gov. Frank Murphy of Mich., accused by committee witnesses of "treasonable action" in connection with the 1937 Michigan automobile strike.

Dies, it was learned, advised his colleagues of the request and the group voted to proceed.

Those voting to continue hearings, it was reported, were Dies, Reps. Mosier, D., Ohio, Thomas, R., N. J., and Mason, R., Ill.

JAPANESE CALL FOR COMPLETE FALL OF CHINA

TOKYO, Oct. 27—(UP)—Half a million Japanese marched to the imperial palace plaza today in a demonstration calling for the complete conquest and rehabilitation of China.

Banners carried in the procession read:

"Prepare For the Building Up of a New China."

"Support the Soldiers Who are Necessarily There."

Sirens shrieked throughout the capital as the populace jammed its way to the palace, shouting banzais ("ten thousand cheers") and waving lanterns in celebration of the capture of Hankow.

Officials warned at the same time against any relaxation of Japan's efforts as a result of the occupation of Canton and Hankow. The struggle is not over, they emphasized, in outlining the vast problems faced in building up the newly dominated areas and in crushing Chinese guerilla opposition.

Further heavy monetary outlays and more sacrifices by the people may be expected, officials said.

Committee Watches Funds Given To Bulkley; Taft Expenses Checked

paign expenses Bulkley had accused Taft of excessive expenditures and Taft has charged Bulkley with violation of the federal corrupt practices act through his campaign committee's acceptance of contributions from federal officials.

A report by Bulkley's campaign committee yesterday disclosed receipts of $21,784, including donations from numerous federal officeholders in Ohio.

In Akron and Cleveland, Charles Sawyer, Democratic candidate for governor, continued presentation of charges that his Republican opponent, John W. Bricker and Gov. Martin L. Davey have made a deal" whereby Davey will support Bricker and retain 30 percent of state patronage if Bricker is elected.

Affidavits Read

Sawyer submitted additional affidavits to support his charges of a "70-30" arrangement between Bricker and Davey. In one case he quoted from the statement of an applicant for a job as a relief investigator who said Mrs. Myrna Smith, secretary to the governor, referred him to a member of the Summit county Republican executive committee. The affidavit quoted Mrs. Smith as saying:

"That's the way we play ball."

In Cleveland Sawyer hit at Davey directly.

"For three year he went about the state calling Mr. Bricker a panty-waist." Sawyer said. "Now he has climbed into bed with him. Having lost his shirt in the primary, he has now put on a panty-waist."

Former Gov. George White took the stump for Sawyer last night, telling a Wooster audience that Sawyer "will not only be a good governor but a great governor." and praising his views on state government.

distinguished from a disarmament conference. That question probably will be discussed by Premier Benito Mussolini and Nazi Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop, who arrives tonight in Rome.

In the Democracies, particularly Great Britain, the speech was welcomed in unofficial comment and the newspapers prominently displayed it with emphasis on the United States' desire for a general disarmament conference. Some comment in London and Paris reflected belief that the President had strengthened the case of democracy as opposed to dictatorship.

In Geneva, the speech was received most enthusiastically by League of Nations officials who praised the President's attitude generally.

ARMY AVIATOR CLAIMS SPEED OF 355.3 MILES

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 27—(UP)—Lieut. Benjamin S. Kelsey, U. S. army pilot, claimed a new speed record of 355.3 miles an hour today following a flight from the army air base at Dayton, O., to Buffalo airport.

Piloting a snub-nosed Curtiss pursuit plane, carrying full wartime equipment, Kelsey logged his time for the 360-mile flight at one hour and one minute. He said the speed was a new army record for a loaded pursuit ship.

The army pilot explained that he made the trip to confer with the makers of the plane, a single-seated monoplane, and inspect plans for new ships which officials hope will set an even faster pace.

"I found conditions just about right," Kelsey commented after he landed, "so I opened her up."

of the state system had never been made formally to the board. The only knowledge the board has had of Davey's request was through newspaper accounts, Ferguson quoted Bigge as saying.

The auditor said he explained to the board member that he had been placed in a difficult position because the state division had held that he had no power to write the checks for only the state's share and no money was available from the government to write them for the full amount.

DARBY TWP. SCHOOL NEWS

The Ohio pen movie "Life in the Big House" was shown to the school last Friday by Boggs Brothers, the producers. An exhibit of articles made by prisoners was made. An interesting and instructive talk was given preceding the show. The show was an excellent lesson of the negative type against wrong thinking and crime.

Athough not quite good enough for one of the prizes, Darby's school exhibit at the Pumpkin Show was very fine. It was arranged by a committee consisting of three of the local teachers.

Basketball practice got under way in earnest last week, there being large squads of both boys and girls. They hope to be ready for the first game on Nov. 11 at Ashville.

School will be dismissed on Nov. 4 to permit the teachers to attend the Central Ohio Teachers' meeting in Columbus on that day and on the fifth.

Mr. Earhart, a representative of the Ohio College association, gave a very fine and instructive talk on "Getting Ready for Life" to an assembly of the high school on Oct. 13. The Seniors filled out cards that designated their probable choices of vocations and the colleges they were interested in.

An athletic carnival, a Hallowe'en party in which the entire high school will participate, will be held Friday night, October 28.

The honor roll for the first six weeks follows: Second Grade—Joan Riley, Harold Dick, Mary Ellen Grabill; Third Grade—Patsy Dick, Betsy Mouser, Virginia Flory; Fourth Grade — Charles Flory, Betty Riddle, Hilda Creamer, Marybelle Downs, Aloma Graessle, Patty Harness, Eileen Ladley; Fifth Grade — Kathleen Connell, Mary Lou Downs, John L. DIES CONTINUES 'R E D' HEARINGS DESPITE APPEAL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 27—(UP)—The house committee investigating un-American activities has rejected an appeal by two Democratic members that it postpone further hearing until after the Nov. 8 general election, it was learned today.

Chairman Dies, D., Tex., announced that he had received a message from Reps. Healey, D., Mass., and Dempsey, D., N. M. Both congressmen are loyal administration supporters. He said he would reply to them later today.

It was learned that Healey and Dempsey asked a suspension of committee hearings which have drawn the censure of President Roosevelt. The President spoke out in defense of Gov. Frank Murphy of Mich., accused by committee witnesses of "treasonable action" in connection with the 1937 Michigan automobile strike.

Dies, it was learned, advised his colleagues of the request and the group voted to proceed.

Those voting to continue hearings, it was reported, were Dies, Reps. Mosier, D., Ohio, Thomas, R., N. J., and Mason, R., Ill.

JAPANESE CALL FOR COMPLETE FALL OF CHINA

TOKYO, Oct. 27—(UP)—Half a million Japanese marched to the imperial palace plaza today in a demonstration calling for the complete conquest and rehabilitation of China.

Banners carried in the procession read:

"Prepare For the Building Up of a New China."

"Support the Soldiers Who are Necessarily There."

Sirens shrieked throughout the capital as the populace jammed its way to the palace, shouting banzais ("ten thousand cheers") and waving lanterns in celebration of the capture of Hankow.

Officials warned at the same time against any relaxation of Japan's efforts as a result of the occupation of Canton and Hankow. The struggle is not over, they emphasized, in outlining the vast problems faced in building up the newly dominated areas and in crushing Chinese guerilla opposition.

Further heavy monetary outlays and more sacrifices by the people may be expected, officials said.

paign expenses Bulkley had accused Taft of excessive expenditures and Taft has charged Bulkley with violation of the federal corrupt practices act through his campaign committee's acceptance of contributions from federal officials.

A report by Bulkley's campaign committee yesterday disclosed receipts of $21,784, including donations from numerous federal officeholders in Ohio.

In Akron and Cleveland, Charles Sawyer, Democratic candidate for governor, continued presentation of charges that his Republican opponent, John W. Bricker and Gov. Martin L. Davey have made a deal" whereby Davey will support Bricker and retain 30 percent of state patronage if Bricker is elected.

Affidavits Read

Sawyer submitted additional affidavits to support his charges of a "70-30" arrangement between Bricker and Davey. In one case he quoted from the statement of an applicant for a job as a relief investigator who said Mrs. Myrna Smith, secretary to the governor, referred him to a member of the Summit county Republican executive committee. The affidavit quoted Mrs. Smith as saying:

"That's the way we play ball."

In Cleveland Sawyer hit at Davey directly.

"For three year he went about the state calling Mr. Bricker a panty-waist." Sawyer said. "Now he has climbed into bed with him. Having lost his shirt in the primary, he has now put on a panty-waist."

Former Gov. George White took the stump for Sawyer last night, telling a Wooster audience that Sawyer "will not only be a good governor but a great governor," and praising his views on state government.

distinguished from a disarmament conference. That question probably will be discussed by Premier Benito Mussolini and Nazi Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop, who arrives tonight in Rome.

In the Democracies, particularly Great Britain, the speech was welcomed in unofficial comment and the newspapers prominently displayed it with emphasis on the United States' desire for a general disarmament conference. Some comment in London and Paris reflected belief that the President had strengthened the case of democracy as opposed to dictatorship.

In Geneva, the speech was received most enthusiastically by League of Nations officials who praised the President's attitude generally.

ARMY AVIATOR CLAIMS SPEED OF 355.3 MILES

BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 27—(UP)—Lieut. Benjamin S. Kelsey, U. S. army pilot, claimed a new speed record of 355.3 miles an hour today following a flight from the army air base at Dayton, O., to Buffalo airport.

Piloting a snub-nosed Curtiss pursuit plane, carrying full wartime equipment, Kelsey logged his time for the 360-mile flight at one hour and one minute. He said the speed was a new army record for a loaded pursuit ship.

The army pilot explained that he made the trip to confer with the makers of the plane, a single-seated monoplane, and inspect plans for new ships which officials hope will set an even faster pace.

"I found conditions just about right," Kelsey commented after he landed, "so I opened her up."

CROWLEY BELIEVES FORDHAM WILL TEST PITT'S "MASTER" TEAM

PRO GRID STAR ASSISTING RAM PASSING THREAT

Former Notre Dame Back Believes There Will Be Scoring In Game

NEW YORK, Oct. 27—(UP)—Jimmy Crowley said he didn't want to be stubborn about it but he couldn't yet see his way clear to agreeing with the football wise boys who say that Pittsburgh has the greatest football club of our time.

"They're good all right," said the sleepy-eyed but sharp-witted Fordham coach, "but I want to withhold my judgment until they've had a little pressure on them. If you notice their record you'll see they haven't had the heat on 'em yet."

"Do you think Fordham will provide that test Saturday?"

"We've done all right the last three years, haven't we?" he said, recalling those three scoreless ties Pitt and Fordham played. "But Saturday I don't know—maybe yes, maybe no."

Crowley was down in the Fordham locker room, peeling off his clothes. He kept laughing and kidding with the coaches and scribes. A fire engine went clanging by and Crowley wisecracked: "There goes the Pitt backfield running through signal practice."

Tricks Shown

He was asked why Fordham uncovered several of its scoring tricks in the final period of the Oregon game, with the game already on ice.

"Why didn't you save them for Pitt?"

"I didn't even know we had any scoring tricks until I saw them in that fourth period against Oregon," he laughed.

"Do you think this Pitt-Fordham game will be another scoreless tie?"

"I think we'll hold up our end of the agreement all right," Crowley remarked with a wink, "but I'm afraid Pitt will double cross us."

Crowley just wouldn't speak seriously about the game. He admitted, however, that he was changing Fordham's defensive setup slightly and that Ed Danowski, former Ram who now is the leading passer of the National Professional league, had been helping instruct Fordham passers this week.

"I really expect there will be some scoring this time," he said. "Our problem is to be sure that we have a team composed of sure, hard-hitting tacklers in the game. Pitt has the kind of backs which must be hit hard to be stopped. Shoddy tackling won't stop fellows like Goldberg, Stebbins, Cassiano and Chickerneo."

Ed Kosky, former Notre Dame end who has been scouting Pittsburgh, turned over reports to Crowley with the following observations—Cassiano, shiftiest and most dangerous runner; Stebbins, hardest runner; Chickerneo, most effective blocker, but entire backfield superior blockers; Goldberg, now playing fullback, not quite as effective on wide sweeps as he was at the tailback; Lezouski and Petro, two great guards; Daddio and Hoffman, exceptional ends, with Hoffman the faster and almost impossible to shake off; noticeable drop from the strength of the first team to the second; Pitt line averages 203; weight of backs, Chickerneo, 213, Stebbins, 203, Goldberg, 200, and Cassiano, 190.

Baer polished off the veteran Hankinson in the first 48 seconds of their scheduled 10-round bout at an Elk's benefit card here last night.

12,000 May See Ohio U. And Cincinnati Tangle

ATHENS, Oct. 27—The Ohio university football squad is being touted as the one squad in the Buckeye Conference strong enough to stop Marshall's Thundering Herd this year. This Saturday the Little Green Jinx eleven meets a keyed up Cincinnati team at Athens before a crowd expected to reach 12,000.

The Bobcats this year give Southeastern Ohio one of the leading grid teams in the country. In grid ratings released last week the Bobcats are rated above Michigan State, West Virginia, Indiana, Alabama, Duquesne and Wisconsin, perennial national football powers.

In Len Janiak, husky Cleveland senior, the Bobcats have the state's leading scorers and one of the highest scorers in the midwest. In addition to Janiak the little Green Jinx eleven has little Johnny Montgomery, called by Ohio U. fans the greatest back in Ohio U. history. Montgomery is sure to receive all-American recognition this Fall. Janiak's line plunging and Montgomery's passing form the two big threats in Don Peden's new offense.

JOHN HENRY LEWIS IN FAVORED SPOT FRIDAY

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 27—(UP)—John Henry Lewis ruled an 8-5 favorite today to retain his light-heavyweight championship tomorrow night against the challenge of Al Gainer at 15 rounds.

Both completed training yesterday and Lewis, who has been campaigning in the heavyweight division for more than a year, had scaled down to 176 pounds, and there was no doubt that he would come within the 175-pound limit by weighing-in time at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

The fight has been postponed twice. Lewis first asked a two-week postponement to allow more time for him to make the weight, and the Connecticut Boxing Commission postponed the fight another week when Gainer developed sinus trouble.

TONY GALENTO IN FIRST WORKOUT SINCE ILLNESS

ORANGE, N. J. Oct. 27.—(UP)—Tony Galento, training to meet Harry Thomas, Minnesota heavyweight, in Philadelphia Nov. 14, will box sparring partners today for the first time since he was stricken with pneumonia last July.

Galento, beer-guzzling Orange saloon keeper who was training to meet Light-Heavyweight John Henry Lewis when pneumonia backed him into an oxygen tent last Summer, took his first serious workout yesterday and showed no after-affects of his illness.

After 12 rounds of bag punching rope-skipping and shadow boxing the barrell-bodied belter weighed 240 pounds.

BLACK TO TAKE 25 ATHLETES TO GREENFIELD

Bob Liston May Start At Blocking Position; Two Buses Filled

Tiger Coach Roy Black and his football hopefuls were going through their paces this afternoon in final preparation for their contest at Greenfield Friday evening against the fast McClain team. The Tiger mentor will take 25 of his athletes to the Greenfield lighted field.

Greenfield's team is a splendid one, there is no denying that fact, since it has won six consecutive games and has run up about 180 points to 74 for its opponents.

The Tigers may pull some surprises of their own with Coach Black sending Bob Liston to the backfield to take over the blocking position. In Wednesday evening's practice when the varsity ran up a 36-0 score on the reserves, Liston's blocking cleared the way for several splendid runs. He blocks as though he really likes it.

The Red and Black squad will leave Circleville about 5:30 in a school bus. The game starts at 8 o'clock. Local school officials have not been informed just who will officiate the game.

Many Circleville followers are expecting to attend the contest. A bus filled with pupils and others will leave at 6:30 and numerous private cars will be filled by fans.

POLL AT BISHOP SCHOOL FAVORS GRID REVISIONS

DELAWARE, O., Oct. 27—(UP)—The student body of Ohio Wesleyan university is almost unanimously in favor of a drastic change in the school's intercollegiate athletic policy, first returns in a poll by the Transcript, student newspaper, disclosed today.

The poll resulted from the disastrous record of the 1938 Wesleyan football team which has not yet scored a point while losing five games, none by less than 26 points.

The Transcript asked four questions. Only one percent of the students polled favored "doing nothing yet". Of the remaining answers, 37 percent favored subsidization of players, 20 percent favored scheduling of weaker teams, "meaning in effect dropping out of the Buckeye conference," and 35 percent favored a change in the coaching staff.

The early returns represented opinion of 532 students. The paper explained its position as follows:

"Whether we want to admit or not, Ohio Wesleyan does not have a champion football team. The Transcript, therefore, refusing longer to wink at the situation, recognizes the fact that there are definite student opinions regarding the failure of the Battling Bishops to break into the win column. . . . and is polling the student body. ."

Gehrig in Unfamiliar Role

NOW that the baseball season is over, ball players must find some other sort of diversion. Here's Lou Gehrig, slugging Yankee first baseman, "batting" out a few oratorical base hits while addressing delegates to a public forum on current events in New York. Gehrig does look scared, doesn't he?

FARKAS SCORES 37 POINTS FOR PRO LOOP LEAD

NEW YORK, Oct. 27—(UP)—Andy Farkas of the Washington Redskins, has scored six touchdowns and kicked one extra point to lead the scoring parade in the National Football league, statistics showed today.

"Handy" Andy's 37 points were six more than those scored by Don Hutson of the Green Bay Packers. In addition Farkas, former University of Detroit star, climbed to third place in individual ground gaining with a total of 269 yards—an average of 4.8 yards per try. Whizzer White of Pittsburgh still led the ground gainers with 288 yards, while Cecil Isbell of Green Bay was second with 279.

Ed Danowski of the New York Giants led pass pitchers with 50 completions in 84 thrown for a .595 efficiency mark. Sammy Baugh of Washington dropped to second with a mark of .581 for 32 completions in 56 attempts.

Gaynell Tinsley of the Chicago Cardinals led pass receivers with 28 aerials caught, and Don Hutson of Green Bay was second with 22 receptions. Ward Cuff of New York continued to pace the field goal kickers with four successful placements in five attempts.

DAYTON SCHOOL GRID CONTESTS ARE CANCELLED

DAYTON, O., Oct. 27—(UP)—Six Dayton high schools were forced today to cancel 13 games remaining on their 1938 football schedules because of the closing of the city public schools until Dec. 3 and possibly Jan. 1, 1939.

The cancelled games included six with schools outside of Dayton as follows: Fairview at Marion Harding, Nov. 4; Steele at Newark, Nov. 5; Roosevelt at Ironton, Nov. 11; Steele at Louisville (Ky.) Dupont, Nov. 12; Stivers at Steubenville, Nov. 12, and Miamisburg at Dayton Fairview, Nov. 19.

The other games were intra-city contests. The curtailed school also will delay start of basketball practice for the Dayton schools. If re-opening is delayed until January, several cage games in December will be cancelled.

There was a possibility arrangements would be completed for playing of the annual Steele-Stivers Thanksgiving day football battle, a traditional game since 1907.

34 OHIO STATE MEN MOVE EAST

Big Band To Appear At N. Y. U. With Buckeyes; Andrako To Start

COLUMBUS, Oct. 27—(UP)—Thirty-four Ohio State gridiron warriors and their coaches entrain late today for a final test skirmish Saturday afternoon against New York university before plunging into the strenuous three-game windup of the 1938 Big Ten campaign.

Accompanied by the 120-piece Ohio State band, the Bucks will march into the Polo Grounds, determined to give the metropolitan crowd a good football show while polishing up gridiron weapons that lacked lustre in four previous contests.

There was every indication that the Violets of N. Y. U. will not be the shrinking variety, throwing a fast-charging line and a tricky aerial attack into the fray as an upset bid.

In view of the Bucks demonstrated deficiencies in speed and pass defense, the Violet opposition probably will be exactly the variety desired by Coach Francis Schmidt to polish off the rough spots in the Bucks armor.

Claude White, reserve center, will not make the trip with Ohio State because of a twisted knee but will be in shape for the Purdue game Nov. 5. Steve Andrako, understudy to Ralph Wolf last year, probably will start the N. Y. U. game with Charley Maag, regular varsity center, again available for duty after being on the shelf with an ankle injury.

PHILADELPHIA EAGLES WIN 7-0 FROM CARDINAL CREW

ERIE, Pa., Oct. 27—(UP)—The Chicago Cardinals, hard-luck club of the National Football league, were buried deeper in the Western division cellar today after a 7-0 defeat by the Philadelphia Eagles.

A fumble by Chicago Halfback Sloan on the nine-yard line just as the first period ended set up the Philadelphia touchdown. Two line plays carried the ball to the six and the Eagles resorted to passing. The first was incomplete, then Dave Smukler, Temple's former all-America halfback, threw one to Joe Carter in the end zone for the touchdown. Hank Reese place-kicked the extra point.

The game was played in a driving rain but 12,000 fans stuck it out.

CROWLEY BELIEVES FORDHAM WILL TEST PITT'S "MASTER" TEAM

PRO GRID STAR ASSISTING RAM PASSING THREAT

Former Notre Dame Back Believes There Will Be Scoring In Game

NEW YORK, Oct. 27—(UP)—Jimmy Crowley said he didn't want to be stubborn about it but he couldn't yet see his way clear to agreeing with the football wise boys who say that Pittsburgh has the greatest football club of our time.

"They're good all right," said the sleepy-eyed but sharp-witted Fordham coach, "but I want to withhold my judgment until they've had a little pressure on them. If you notice their record you'll see they haven't had the heat on 'em yet."

"Do you think Fordham will provide that test Saturday?"

"We've done all right the last three years, haven't we?" he said, recalling those three scoreless ties Pitt and Fordham played. "But Saturday I don't know—maybe yes, maybe no."

Crowley was down in the Fordham locker room, peeling off his clothes. He kept laughing and kidding with the coaches and scribes. A fire engine went clanging by and Crowley wisecracked: "There goes the Pitt backfield running through signal practice."

Tricks Shown

He was asked why Fordham uncovered several of its scoring tricks in the final period of the Oregon game, with the game already on ice.

"Why didn't you save them for Pitt?"

"I didn't even know we had any scoring tricks until I saw them in that fourth period against Oregon," he laughed.

"Do you think this Pitt-Fordham game will be another scoreless tie?"

"I think we'll hold up our end of the agreement all right," Crowley remarked with a wink, "but I'm afraid Pitt will double cross us."

Crowley just wouldn't speak seriously about the game. He admitted, however, that he was changing Fordham's defensive setup slightly and that Ed Danowski, former Ram who now is the leading passer of the National Professional league, had been helping instruct Fordham passers this week.

"I really expect there will be some scoring this time," he said. "Our problem is to be sure that we have a team composed of sure, hard-hitting tacklers in the game. Pitt has the kind of backs which must be hit hard to be stopped. Shoddy tackling won't stop fellows like Goldberg, Stebbins, Cassiano and Chickerneo."

Ed Kosky, former Notre Dame end who has been scouting Pittsburgh, turned over reports to Crowley with the following observations—Cassiano, shiftiest and most dangerous runner; Stebbins, hardest runner; Chickerneo, most effective blocker, but entire backfield superior blockers; Goldberg, now playing fullback, not quite as effective on wide sweeps as he was at the tailback; Lezouski and Petro, two great guards; Daddio and Hoffman, exceptional ends, with Hoffman the faster and almost impossible to shake off; noticeable drop from the strength of the first team to the second; Pitt line averages 203; weight of backs, Chickerneo, 213, Stebbins, 203, Goldberg, 200, and Cassiano, 190.

BAER WINS BY KAYO

HONOLULU, T. H., Oct. 27—(UP)—Max Baer, the former world's heavyweight champion who says he is out to regain his title, was off to a good start on his series of bouts in Hawaii today after scoring a first-round knockout over Hank Hankinson. Baer polished off the veteran Hankinson in the first 48 seconds of their scheduled 10-round bout at an Elk's benefit card here last night.

12,000 May See Ohio U. And Cincinnati Tangle

ATHENS, Oct. 27—The Ohio university football squad is being touted as the one squad in the Buckeye Conference strong enough to stop Marshall's Thundering Herd this year. This Saturday the Little Green Jinx eleven meets a keyed up Cincinnati team at Athens before a crowd expected to reach 12,000.

The Bobcats this year give Southeastern Ohio one of the leading grid teams in the country. In grid ratings released last week the Bobcats are rated above Michigan State, West Virginia, Indiana, Alabama, Duquesne and Wisconsin, perennial national football powers.

In Len Janiak, husky Cleveland senior, the Bobcats have the state's leading scorers and one of the highest scorers in the midwest. In addition to Janiak the little Green Jinx eleven has little Johnny Montgomery, called by Ohio U. fans the greatest back in Ohio U. history. Montgomery is sure to receive all-American recognition this Fall. Janiak's line plunging and Montgomery's passing form the two big threats in Don Peden's new offense.

JOHN HENRY LEWIS IN FAVORED SPOT FRIDAY

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 27—(UP)—John Henry Lewis ruled an 8-5 favorite today to retain his light-heavyweight championship tomorrow night against the challenge of Al Gainer at 15 rounds.

Both completed training yesterday and Lewis, who has been campaigning in the heavyweight division for more than a year, had scaled down to 176 pounds, and there was no doubt that he would come within the 175-pound limit by weighing-in time at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

The fight has been postponed twice. Lewis first asked a two-week postponement to allow more time for him to make the weight, and the Connecticut Boxing Commission postponed the fight another week when Gainer developed sinus trouble.

TONY GALENTO IN FIRST WORKOUT SINCE ILLNESS

ORANGE, N. J. Oct. 27.—(UP)—Tony Galento, training to meet Harry Thomas, Minnesota heavyweight, in Philadelphia Nov. 14, will box sparring partners today for the first time since he was stricken with pneumonia last July.

Galento, beer-guzzling Orange saloon keeper who was training to meet Light-Heavyweight John Henry Lewis when pneumonia backed him into an oxygen tent last Summer, took his first serious workout yesterday and showed no after-affects of his illness.

After 12 rounds of bag punching rope-skipping and shadow boxing the barrell-bodied belter weighed 240 pounds.

BLACK TO TAKE 25 ATHLETES TO GREENFIELD

Bob Liston May Start At Blocking Position; Two Buses Filled

Tiger Coach Roy Black and his football hopefuls were going through their paces this afternoon in final preparation for their contest at Greenfield Friday evening against the fast McClain team. The Tiger mentor will take 25 of his athletes to the Greenfield lighted field.

Greenfield's team is a splendid one, there is no denying that fact, since it has won six consecutive games and has run up about 180 points to 74 for its opponents.

The Tigers may pull some surprises of their own with Coach Black sending Bob Liston to the backfield to take over the blocking position. In Wednesday evening's practice when the varsity ran up a 36-0 score on the reserves, Liston's blocking cleared the way for several splendid runs. He blocks as though he really likes it.

The Red and Black squad will leave Circleville about 5:30 in a school bus. The game starts at 8 o'clock. Local school officials have not been informed just who will officiate the game.

Many Circleville followers are expecting to attend the contest. A bus filled with pupils and others will leave at 6:30 and numerous private cars will be filled by fans.

POLL AT BISHOP SCHOOL FAVORS GRID REVISIONS

DELAWARE, O., Oct. 27—(UP)—The student body of Ohio Wesleyan university is almost unanimously in favor of a drastic change in the school's intercollegiate athletic policy, first returns in a poll by the Transcript, student newspaper, disclosed today.

The poll resulted from the disastrous record of the 1938 Wesleyan football team which has not yet scored a point while losing five games, none by less than 26 points.

The Transcript asked four questions. Only one percent of the students polled favored "doing nothing yet". Of the remaining answers, 37 percent favored subsidization of players, 20 percent favored scheduling of weaker teams, "meaning in effect dropping out of the Buckeye conference," and 35 percent favored a change in the coaching staff.

The early returns represented opinion of 532 students. The paper explained its position as follows:

"Whether we want to admit or not, Ohio Wesleyan does not have a champion football team. The Transcript, therefore, refusing longer to wink at the situation, recognizes the fact that there are definite student opinions regarding the failure of the Battling Bishops to break into the win column. . . . and is polling the student body. ."

Gehrig in Unfamiliar Role

NOW that the baseball season is over, ball players must find some other sort of diversion. Here's Lou Gehrig, slugging Yankee first baseman, "batting" out a few oratorical base hits while addressing delegates to a public forum on current events in New York. Gehrig does look scared, doesn't he?

FARKAS SCORES 37 POINTS FOR PRO LOOP LEAD

NEW YORK, Oct. 27—(UP)—Andy Farkas of the Washington Redskins, has scored six touchdowns and kicked one extra point to lead the scoring parade in the National Football league, statistics showed today.

"Handy" Andy's 37 points were six more than those scored by Don Hutson of the Green Bay Packers. In addition Farkas, former University of Detroit star, climbed to third place in individual ground gaining with a total of 269 yards—an average of 4.8 yards per try. Whizzer White of Pittsburgh still led the ground gainers with 288 yards, while Cecil Isbell of Green Bay was second with 279.

Ed Danowski of the New York Giants led pass pitchers with 50 completions in 84 thrown for a .595 efficiency mark. Sammy Baugh of Washington dropped to second with a mark of .581 for 32 completions in 56 attempts.

Gaynell Tinsley of the Chicago Cardinals led pass receivers with 28 aerials caught, and Don Hutson of Green Bay was second with 22 receptions. Ward Cuff of New York continued to pace the field goal kickers with four successful placements in five attempts.

DAYTON SCHOOL GRID CONTESTS ARE CANCELLED

DAYTON, O., Oct. 27—(UP)—Six Dayton high schools were forced today to cancel 13 games remaining on their 1938 football schedules because of the closing of the city public schools until Dec. 3 and possibly Jan. 1, 1939.

The cancelled games included six with schools outside of Dayton as follows: Fairview at Marion Harding, Nov. 4; Steele at Newark, Nov. 5; Roosevelt at Ironton, Nov. 11; Steele at Louisville (Ky.) Dupont, Nov. 12; Stivers at Steubenville, Nov. 12, and Miamisburg at Dayton Fairview, Nov. 19.

The other games were intra-city contests. The curtailed school also will delay start of basketball practice for the Dayton schools. If re-opening is delayed until January, several cage games in December will be cancelled.

There was a possibility arrangements would be completed for playing of the annual Steele-Stivers Thanksgiving day football battle, a traditional game since 1907.

34 OHIO STATE MEN MOVE EAST

Big Band To Appear At N. Y. U. With Buckeyes; Andrako To Start

COLUMBUS, Oct. 27—(UP)—Thirty-four Ohio State gridiron warriors and their coaches entrain late today for a final test skirmish Saturday afternoon against New York university before plunging into the strenuous three-game windup of the 1938 Big Ten campaign.

Accompanied by the 120-piece Ohio State band, the Bucks will march into the Polo Grounds, determined to give the metropolitan crowd a good football show while polishing up gridiron weapons that lacked lustre in four previous contests.

There was every indication that the Violets of N. Y. U. will not be the shrinking variety, throwing a fast-charging line and a tricky aerial attack into the fray as an upset bid.

In view of the Bucks demonstrated deficiencies in speed and pass defense, the Violet opposition probably will be exactly the variety desired by Coach Francis Schmidt to polish off the rough spots in the Bucks armor.

Claude White, reserve center, will not make the trip with Ohio State because of a twisted knee but will be in shape for the Purdue game Nov. 5. Steve Andrako, understudy to Ralph Wolf last year, probably will start the N. Y. U. game with Charley Maag, regular varsity center, again available for duty after being on the shelf with an ankle injury.

PHILADELPHIA EAGLES WIN 7-0 FROM CARDINAL CREW

ERIE, Pa., Oct. 27—(UP)—The Chicago Cardinals, hard-luck club of the National Football league, were buried deeper in the Western division cellar today after a 7-0 defeat by the Philadelphia Eagles.

A fumble by Chicago Halfback Sloan on the nine-yard line just as the first period ended set up the Philadelphia touchdown. Two line plays carried the ball to the six and the Eagles resorted to passing. The first was incomplete, then Dave Smukler, Temple's former all-America halfback, threw one to Joe Carter in the end zone for the touchdown. Hank Reese place-kicked the extra point.

The game was played in a driving rain but 12,000 fans stuck it out.

IT IS DANGEROUS business to ruff with the long trump hand, when the defenders have any appreciable number of trumps. (Dealer: North. Neither side vulnerable)

The bidding on this deal began with North calling 1-Club, which East over-called with 1-Spade. South put in a 2-Diamond bid, North 3-Clubs, South 3-Diamonds and North 5-Diamonds.

West laid down the spade A and, seeing the singleton in dummy, switched to the club 6. The 2 was played from dummy, East played the 7 and South ruffed. The spade 10 was then ruffed in dummy and a club ruffed in the South hand. Then a diamond was led to the A and to return to his hand declarer ruffed another club. When he played the diamonds K and Q he discovered that West was left with the high trump. As a result, South lost four more tricks.

Declarer lost the timing of the hand by ruffing the spade. He should have won the second trick with the diamond 4 and led to the diamond A. Then a second club ruff would have brought him to his hand to lead out the remaining trumps. With the club suit now set up after two leads of the suit, a heart to dummy's A would have allowed him to claim the remainder of the tricks.

Red Cross Provides Aid In Innumerable Places

Along the nation's highways, in underprivileged homes and isolated communities, in hospitals, military stations, schools, and on far-flung beaches, the work of the American Red Cross has been on in increasing volume, Earl Smith, roll call chairman of the Pickaway county Red Cross chapter, pointed out Thursday.

In reviewing some of the work done by Red Cross workers during the last year, Mr. Smith said that great strides had been made in reaching increasing numbers of Americans everywhere, and cited the fact that in the Red Cross campaign to eliminate accidents in homes and on farms, 15,000,000 householders had been advised how to eradicate existing accident hazards.

"Red Cross public health nurses made more than 1,000,000 visits to or on behalf of the sick during the last 12 months," Mr. Smith said. 'They are carrying out their work in communities where nursing and medical aid are not readily available, including homes in mountains, in small country towns, on prairies, and on isolated islands off our coasts. At the same time, these nurses have examined 559,187 school children for possible physical defects that needed correction, and where it was found necessary the proper treatment was arranged."

He said, too, that 295,028 persons had been qualified to stop bleeding, treat for shock, splint fractures, and give other emergency treatment following accidents, and that 88,150 persons had been trained in life saving and water safety in an effort to bring about drastic reductions in deaths from drowning.

"While there were few disasters of spectacular national importance during the year," Mr. Smith said, "the Red Cross through this period has rescued, fed, clothed, and given nursing and medical care to 108,589 victims of floods, fires, storms, explosion, and many other types of disasters. These have been scattered over 38 states and included ten types of natural catastrophes."

Mr. Smith described the nation-wide campaign against deaths and permanent injuries on highways inaugurated three years ago by the Red Cross, and said that with 676 new stations reported in operation during the past year, the total number of emergency first aid stations has grown to 2,519.

The Junior Red Cross, he said, had grown to be one of the largest youth organizations in the world, with more than 9,000,000 school children in the United States working to promote better international understanding with members of Junior Red Cross in 52 other countries. Albums and letters are constantly being exchanged and much international interest aroused in this way. At the same time, he said, these Juniors are carrying on constructive work at home.

Problem Eased

The Red Cross service to enlisted men, disabled veterans and their dependents had helped solve the pressing problems of 270,600 men and their families during the past year, he added, and in smaller communities lacking local relief facilities Red Cross chapters have given sorely needed help to 120,000 families.

All this work, Mr. Smith pointed out, is made possible by the annual Red Cross membership Roll Call, held each year between Armistice Day and Thanksgiving Day.

Larger Receipts Listed At Weekly Sale; Choice Cattle Missing

Large receipts and higher hog prices featured the Circleville livestock auction Wednesday.

D. H. Marcy, Pickaway county relief director, was in Chillicothe Wednesday where he attended an informal meeting with relief officials of Ross and Pike counties for a discussion of relief problems in rural counties. William C. Dixon, state relief director, attended the meeting.

Mr. Marcy said relief officials of some other counties had been invited to attend but could not be present due to civil service examinations.

STARS SAY—

For Thursday, October 27

ALTHOUGH there are auguries of some degree of success, expansion and financial advantage on this day, according to the planetary configurations, there are also sins of danger, distrust and possible disaster. It might also be advisable to be alert to plots and schemes, or other forms of subtlety or intrigue.

Those whose birthday it is are under the rule of a rather controdictory state of affairs. There is presage of gain, expansion and satisfaction. At the same time, there is a menace of loss, accident or harm to person or property. Subtle, undercover and sinister machinations also call for vigilance.

A child born on this day may be keen, elert, fairly ambitious and enterprising, but it also may be subject to certain phases of defeat through subtle enmities, intrigues or because of bodily perils. It may be interested in occult or mystical studies and investigation.

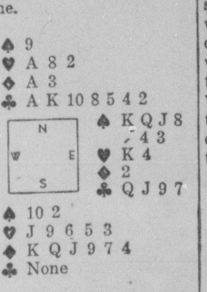
PRECARIOUS TACTICS

IT IS DANGEROUS business to ruff with the long trump hand, when the defenders have any appreciable number of trumps. If you shorten your own string too much, you may meet a shock upon finding one foe with all or nearly all of the missing trumps, possibly left with one more than yourself or a higher one than your last one.



(Dealer: North. Neither side vulnerable)

The bidding on this deal began with North calling 1-Club, which East over-called with 1-Spade. South put in a 2-Diamond bid, North 3-Clubs, South 3-Diamonds and North 5-Diamonds.

West laid down the spade A and, seeing the singleton in dummy, switched to the club 6. The 2 was played from dummy, East played the 7 and South ruffed. The spade 10 was then ruffed in dummy and a club ruffed in the South hand. Then a diamond was led to the A and to return to his hand declarer ruffed another club. When he played the diamonds K and Q he discovered that West was left with the high trump. As a result, South lost four more tricks.

Declarer lost the timing of the hand by ruffing the spade. He should have won the second trick with the diamond 4 and led to the diamond A. Then a second club ruff would have brought him to his hand to lead out the remaining trumps. With the club suit now set up after two leads of the suit, a heart to dummy's A would have allowed him to claim the remainder of the tricks.

What is the correct bidding on this deal?

Red Cross Provides Aid In Innumerable Places

Along the nation's highways, in underprivileged homes and isolated communities, in hospitals, military stations, schools, and on far-flung beaches, the work of the American Red Cross has been on in increasing volume, Earl Smith, roll call chairman of the Pickaway county Red Cross chapter, pointed out Thursday.

In reviewing some of the work done by Red Cross workers during the last year, Mr. Smith said that great strides had been made in reaching increasing numbers of Americans everywhere, and cited the fact that in the Red Cross campaign to eliminate accidents in homes and on farms, 15,000,000 householders had been advised how to eradicate existing accident hazards.

"Red Cross public health nurses made more than 1,000,000 visits to or on behalf of the sick during the last 12 months," Mr. Smith said. 'They are carrying out their work in communities where nursing and medical aid are not readily available, including homes in mountains, in small country towns, on prairies, and on isolated islands off our coasts. At the same time, these nurses have examined 559,187 school children for possible physical defects that needed correction, and where it was found necessary the proper treatment was arranged."

He said, too, that 295,028 persons had been qualified to stop bleeding, treat for shock, splint fractures, and give other emergency treatment following accidents, and that 88,150 persons had been trained in life saving and water safety in an effort to bring about drastic reductions in deaths from drowning.

"While there were few disasters of spectacular national importance during the year," Mr. Smith said, "the Red Cross through this period has rescued, fed, clothed, and given nursing and medical care to 108,589 victims of floods, fires, storms, explosion, and many other types of disasters. These have been scattered over 38 states and included ten types of natural catastrophes."

Mr. Smith described the nation-wide campaign against deaths and permanent injuries on highways inaugurated three years ago by the Red Cross, and said that with 676 new stations reported in operation during the past year, the total number of emergency first aid stations has grown to 2,519.

The Junior Red Cross, he said, had grown to be one of the largest youth organizations in the world, with more than 9,000,000 school children in the United States working to promote better international understanding with members of Junior Red Cross in 52 other countries. Albums and letters are constantly being exchanged and much international interest aroused in this way. At the same time, he said, these Juniors are carrying on constructive work at home.

Problem Eased

The Red Cross service to enlisted men, disabled veterans and their dependents had helped solve the pressing problems of 270,600 men and their families during the past year, he added, and in smaller communities lacking local relief facilities Red Cross chapters have given sorely needed help to 120,000 families.

All this work, Mr. Smith pointed out, is made possible by the annual Red Cross membership Roll Call, held each year between Armistice Day and Thanksgiving Day.

A. A. COMMITTEE IN SPRINGFIELD TO OBTAIN DATA

The 1939 Pickaway County Agriculture Conservation Committee, including John G. Boggs, Circleville, Wilbur E. Brinker, Walnut township, and Dewey Downs, Darby township, and Paul Matthaes, Derby, secretary, went to Springfield Thursday to attend a district meeting to discuss the program.

The meeting started at 12:30 p. m. in Memorial hall in Springfield. Claude R. Wickard, director of the North central region of the Agricultural Adjustment administration, was principal speaker.

All township committeemen of the county were invited to attend the meeting. Each township group was to work out arrangements to attend. County officials were uncertain how many would be present.

FAIRFIELD FIELD TRIALS TO BE STAGED ON SUNDAY

Thirteenth annual Fairfield Fish and Game Association field trials will be held Sunday, Oct. 30, at the James Kiger farm, near Hooker on U. S. Route 33.

Many outstanding dogs are expected to participate in the event. A crowd of 2,500 persons is expected.

"Fish and chips" is a big industry. There are about 30,000 friedfish shops in England and Wales, and they use up 1,000,000 tons of potatoes each year.

PORKERS JUMP PAST $8 DURING STOCK AUCTION

Larger Receipts Listed At Weekly Sale; Choice Cattle Missing

Large receipts and higher hog prices featured the Circleville livestock auction Wednesday.

Harry J. Briggs, service manager of the Farm Bureau, said the larger receipts were due to farmers disposing of stock they did not want to put on feed and the fact some of them did not want to bring in stock during Pumpkin Show.

No choice cattle was sold Wednesday. Medium to good grades sold from $7 to $8.15. Fat cattle were about 50 cents below last week. Veal calves and stock calves were about steady. A total of 371 was run through the sale as compared with 138 last week.

Top price for hogs was $8.05 as compared with $7.50 last week. A total of 655 was run through Wednesday's sale. Last week's total was 459.

PRECARIOUS TACTICS

IT IS DANGEROUS business to ruff with the long trump hand, when the defenders have any appreciable number of trumps. If you shorten your own string too much, you may meet a shock upon finding one foe with all or nearly all of the missing trumps, possibly left with one more than yourself or a higher one than your last one.

(Dealer: North. Neither side vulnerable)

The bidding on this deal began with North calling 1-Club, which East over-called with 1-Spade. South put in a 2-Diamond bid, North 3-Clubs, South 3-Diamonds and North 5-Diamonds.

West laid down the spade A and, seeing the singleton in dummy, switched to the club 6. The 2 was played from dummy, East played the 7 and South ruffed. The spade 10 was then ruffed in dummy and a club ruffed in the South hand. Then a diamond was led to the A and to return to his hand declarer ruffed another club. When he played the diamonds K and Q he discovered that West was left with the high trump. As a result, South lost four more tricks.

Declarer lost the timing of the hand by ruffing the spade. He should have won the second trick with the diamond 4 and led to the diamond A. Then a second club ruff would have brought him to his hand to lead out the remaining trumps. With the club suit now set up after two leads of the suit, a heart to dummy's A would have allowed him to claim the remainder of the tricks.

Red Cross Provides Aid In Innumerable Places

Along the nation's highways, in underprivileged homes and isolated communities, in hospitals, military stations, schools, and on far-flung beaches, the work of the American Red Cross has been on in increasing volume, Earl Smith, roll call chairman of the Pickaway county Red Cross chapter, pointed out Thursday.

In reviewing some of the work done by Red Cross workers during the last year, Mr. Smith said that great strides had been made in reaching increasing numbers of Americans everywhere, and cited the fact that in the Red Cross campaign to eliminate accidents in homes and on farms, 15,000,000 householders had been advised how to eradicate existing accident hazards.

"Red Cross public health nurses made more than 1,000,000 visits to or on behalf of the sick during the last 12 months," Mr. Smith said. 'They are carrying out their work in communities where nursing and medical aid are not readily available, including homes in mountains, in small country towns, on prairies, and on isolated islands off our coasts. At the same time, these nurses have examined 559,187 school children for possible physical defects that needed correction, and where it was found necessary the proper treatment was arranged."

He said, too, that 295,028 persons had been qualified to stop bleeding, treat for shock, splint fractures, and give other emergency treatment following accidents, and that 88,150 persons had been trained in life saving and water safety in an effort to bring about drastic reductions in deaths from drowning.

"While there were few disasters of spectacular national importance during the year," Mr. Smith said, "the Red Cross through this period has rescued, red, clothed, and given nursing and medical care to 108,589 victims of floods, fires, storms, explosion, and many other types of disasters. These have been scattered over 38 states and included ten types of natural catastrophes."

Mr. Smith described the nation-wide campaign against deaths and permanent injuries on highways inaugurated three years ago by the Red Cross, and said that with 676 new stations reported in operation during the past year, the total number of emergency first aid stations has grown to 2,519.

The Junior Red Cross, he said, had grown to be one of the largest youth organizations in the world, with more than 9,000,000 school children in the United States working to promote better international understanding with members of Junior Red Cross in 52 other countries. Albums and letters are constantly being exchanged and much international interest aroused in this way. At the same time, he said, these Juniors are carrying on constructive work at home.

Problem Eased

The Red Cross service to enlisted men, disabled veterans and their dependents had helped solve the pressing problems of 270,600 men and their families during the past year, he added, and in smaller communities lacking local relief facilities Red Cross chapters have given sorely needed help to 120,000 families.

All this work, Mr. Smith pointed out, is made possible by the annual Red Cross membership Roll Call, held each year between Armistice Day and Thanksgiving Day.

A. A. COMMITTEE IN SPRINGFIELD TO OBTAIN DATA

The 1939 Pickaway County Agriculture Conservation Committee, including John G. Boggs, Circleville, Wilbur E. Brinker, Walnut township, and Dewey Downs, Darby township, and Paul Mathaes, Derby, secretary, went to Springfield Thursday to attend a district meeting to discuss the program.

The meeting started at 12:30 p. m. in Memorial hall in Springfield. Claude R. Wickard, director of the North central region of the Agricultural Adjustment administration, was principal speaker.

All township committeemen of the county were invited to attend the meeting. Each township group was to work out arrangements to attend. County officials were uncertain how many would be present.

FAIRFIELD FIELD TRIALS TO BE STAGED ON SUNDAY

Thirteenth annual Fairfield Fish and Game Association field trials will be held Sunday, Oct. 30, at the James Kiger farm, near Hooker on U. S. Route 33.

Many outstanding dogs are expected to participate in the event. A crowd of 2,500 persons is expected.

"Fish and chips" is a big industry. There are about 30,000 friedfish shops in England and Wales, and they use up 1,000,000 tons of potatoes each year.

COUNTY'S SALES TAX FUND HITS SKIDS IN 1938

Nearly $40,000 Less Listed For Pickaway In First Nine Months

NEW SYSTEM DAMAGING

Only 11 Districts Have Benefited Under Ohio Distribution

COLUMBUS, Oct. 27 — Local Governments of Pickaway county have received $39,487 less so far this year from the state sales tax than they did in the same period of 1937, it was revealed here today.

The figures, obtained from the office of Auditor of State Joseph T. Ferguson, also showed that sales tax distribution to the end of September of this year has totaled only $7,207,842 as compared with $10,702,532 for the same period last year. Pickaway county has suffered not only from the decline of sales tax collections throughout the state, but from a new method of distribution instituted early this year.

During 1937 and the first three months of 1938, the percentage of distribution of sales tax revenue allocated to the various counties was based on the total county property valuations. In an opinion of the attorney general on May 25, however, the percentage was ordered based on the municipal valuations.

Eleven counties have received a greater percentage this year than last, whereas the other 77 including Pickaway county, have received less.
